9-Year-Old Radios Order To Marine Helicopter

ANAHEIM, Calif. (AP) — Jeff Donofrio, Craig Lestman and Mike Hadsall, fellow fourth-graders at Central Baptist Day School in Anaheim, ran outside at recess to play with Craig's walkie-talkie.

A helicopter flew overhead. On its fuselage was the legend: "U.S. Marines 708."

Suddenly Jeff heard a voice say: "This is 708 calling Central."

Quick as a wink, Jeff answered: "Go to San Francisco." "Shall I call Peterson or will you?" the voice said.

"You call," Jeff answered.

Tin Lizzie Causes Fuss In England

SOUTHAMPTON, England (AP)—Fred Stugard drove his 1915 Model T off the Queen Elizabeth Tuesday and ran into a tax roadblock.

The customs men told him: "You can't bring her in unless you pay taxes — 25 per cent sales tax, 25 per cent import tax, 15 per cent import surcharge."

"But this is antique and antiques are free of taxes," the 46-year-old geologist from Nashville, Tenn., argued.

"Not so," said the customs officer. "An article must be 100 years old before it is classed as antique and the Tin Lizzie wasn't even invented then."

An argument on the Model T's value followed.

Stugard said he paid $2,800 for the car. But he didn't see why he should pay tax on all that when it was sold 50 years ago for only $375.

A valuation expert was called from London. But before he arrived a solution was found — Stugard didn't have to pay a penny.

"I've been based in Britain some time and they were taking me as a resident," he said.

"But when they examined my passport more closely they found that with holidays on the Continent taken into account I've spent less than 12 months here in the past two years."

"That means I haven't established residence and they've let the Lizzie in tax-free on a year's visitor's permit."

That settled, Stugard set off for London. Lizzie proved a reluctant starter so the customs men helped him on with a shove.

Chile Cleans Up After Quake

Disaster Is Third For Area Since '39

SANTIAGO, Chile, (AP) — Earthquakes are part of the way of life in Chile, and the Chileans know what to do after a quake strikes. Today they are doing it with a vengeance.

Newsmen who flew Tuesday over the areas hit hardest by Sunday's quake saw work crews swarming over roofs, walls, bridges and roads, clearing away debris and starting repairs and reconstruction.

The exception was in El Cobre, the mining town of 400 persons wiped out by a dam break triggered by the quake.

In El Cobre there was nothing to rebuild or repair.

There, grimy work crews continued to dig into a 5-mile-long mass of earth, trying to reach the wreckage of the miners' houses and to bring out the dead.

By Tuesday night 45 bodies had been recovered. More than 300 were believed still buried.

The armed services set up tents, field hospitals and field kitchens in disaster areas to serve the injured or homeless.

The tents and equipment were donated by the United States after earthquakes and a tidal wave smashed much of southern Chile in 1960.

The Chileans stockpiled them on the assumption they would be needed again. The quake which struck Sunday was the third disastrous earthquake within the lifetime of some adult Chileans. The first was in 1939.

President Johnson offered any U.S. aid needed after Sunday's quake. But President Eduardo Frei said Chile would not ask for outside help — "We will do it with our own hands and with our own strength."

"Chile cannot ask for outside help every four years when this country is on the floor," he declared.

Heroic FDR Guard Dies At Age of 78

MIAMI BEACH, Fla., (AP) — William J. Sinott, the man who stopped a bullet intended for Franklin D. Roosevelt is dead.

Sinott died at St. Francis Hospital Monday night at the age of 78. He had lived here many years.

On Feb. 15, 1933, Giuseppe Zangara fired at Roosevelt as the president-elect sat in an open car here.

One bullet killed Mayor Anton Cermak of Chicago. Sinott, lunging for the gunman, took the other slug in his head.

Three other persons were wounded before Zangara went down under a swarm of police and Secret Service men.

Sinott, a New York policeman was a security man assigned to Roosevelt's headquarters in a New York hotel on election night in 1932.

He happened to be in the crowd the day of the shooting, and Roosevelt's secretary, Marvin McIntyre, asked him to reinforce the guard around Roosevelt's car.

Zangara was executed for his crime.

Mayors Are Urged To Back LBJ Plan

WASHINGTON (AP) — Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey urged the nation's mayors and other city officials today to throw their support behind the proposal to give cities a voice in the President's Cabinet.

America's ever-growing cities are facing a "time of great decision," and need such a voice, he said, in a speech prepared for a legislative conference of the National League of Cities.

As he spoke, hearings were under way in the Senate on an administration-backed bill which would create a new department of housing and urban development. This would be done by raising the status of the existing federal Housing and Home Finance Agency.

Keaton Bound to Grand Jury Here On Charge of First Degree Murder

Circleville Municipal Court Judge Sterling M. Lamb yesterday bound Cleo Vernon Keaton to the County Grand Jury without bond on a charge of first degree murder.

Keaton, 27, is accused of the slaying of Maurice L. Francis, 50, Williamsport. The victim's body was discovered on the Yanketown-Dawson Road by Lester Fletcher, also of Williamsport, on the morning of Mar. 23.

The judge made his ruling yesterday after hearing testimony from five witnesses presented by the state.

Defense counsel Emanuel Nadlin of Dayton presented no witnesses for the defense during the hearing. He did not enter a plea for Keaton.

AT THE conclusion of the presentation of testimony by Pickaway County Prosecutor Robert H. Huffer, Nadlin contended the state had not presented valid evidence to support the proposition the defendant killed Francis maliciously and with premeditation.

He further contended that under the Constitution, Keaton was entitled to bond. The judge, however, ruled in favor of the prosecution by ordering Keaton held in the Pickaway County Jail without bond until the Grand Jury convenes on April 5.

During the preliminary hearing Huffer attempted to establish the connection between Keaton and the death of Francis through testimony of the five witnesses.

Appearing as state's witnesses were Pickaway County Deputy Sheriff John Wolford, Sheriff Dwight Radcliff, Greene County Deputy Ollie Watson, Dr. Carlos Alvarez and Edward Hopkins.

Deputy Wolford was the first law enforcement officer at the scene of the slaying. Sheriff Radcliff directed the investigation. Deputy Watson was one of three officers who apprehended Keaton in Jamestown.

Dr. Alvarez assisted Pickaway County Coroner Dr. Ray Carroll with the autopsy. Hopkins performed ballistic comparison tests between the bullet removed from the body of the deceased and bullets fired from the .22 caliber revolver recovered from Keaton in Jamestown.

PHYSICAL evidence presented were three photos of the scene, a jacket the dead man was wearing and the weapon found in the possession of Keaton.

In summing up the evidence, Huffer pointed out that Keaton was placed at the scene through the automobile stolen from Chillicothe that was found near the body and by the fact Keaton was apprehended in Francis' car.

The prosecutor stated the deceased had been shot three times and there was no evidence of provocation or of an accident. The testimony by Dr. Alvarez clearly stated death was caused by massive hemorrhaging and bleeding of the wounds inflicted by the bullets, according to Huffer.

Testimony of Hopkins, the ballistics expert, showed the bullet removed from the body of Francis was fired from the (Continued on Page Two)

Scorched Earth Raids Staged

6 North Points Are Targets

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — About 200 U.S. and South Vietnamese warplanes struck today at six points in North Viet Nam and—south of the border—staged the biggest scorched earth raids ever employed against the Viet Cong.

The widespread operations cost the United States six aircraft. Four helicopters were shot down and three American helicopter crewmen were killed and 15 wounded in a savage fight in central Viet Nam.

Some 70 U.S. Air Force planes poured tons of napalm and phosphorous bombs plus tanks of fuel oil into a 19,000-acre stretch of Communist-infested jungle 25 miles northeast of Saigon in hope of setting the forest on fire.

Participating in the raids on North Viet Nam were planes from the Vietnamese and U.S. Air Forces and Navy planes from the 7th fleet carriers Hancock and Coral Sea.

Announced plane losses were one raider from the carrier Hancock and an F100 Air Force reconnaissance jet which crashed in friendly territory after being hit by heavy flak on a mission over North Viet Nam. The fate of the Navy pilot was not immediately determined. The F100 pilot bailed out safely. The air strikes were carried out as U.S. Embassy personnel returned to work in their bomb-battered offices in Saigon under the protection of tighter security measures.

About 45 American and Vietnamese fighter-bombers attacked four radar stations in North Viet Nam. A military spokesman said one U.S. Air Force F100 jet was shot down, but the pilot parachuted and was rescued uninjured.

In a related action, U.S. Navy jets from the carriers Coral Sea and Hancock attacked the radar station at Cape Ron and a military complex at Vinh Son.

A Hanoi dispatch broadcast from Peking declared 12 of the raiders were shot down. South Viet Nam's official press agency announced the fourth operation — a strike by 100 U.S. and South Vietnamese bombers at a munitions depot and training center of a Viet Cong regiment at Boi Loi, 55 miles northwest of Saigon.

"The Boi Loi area was engulfed in a sea of fire," the agency said in a broadcast dispatch. "Pilots reported all planes taking part returned safely to the Bien Hoa Air Base."

Twenty-five American helicopters and elements of a Vietnamese government regiment were heavily engaged by Viet Cong forces three miles north of Viet Nam, a strategic center south of Da Nang Air Base.

Two U.S. Marine helicopter men died in their craft and 16 were wounded, one fatally.

Of 19 Marine helicopters in the action, all were reported hit by ground fire. Six Army helicopters also were engaged in the fight, which still raged at dusk.

In Saigon, U.S. Embassy personnel returned to their bomb-battered offices under the protection of tight security measures. Only about half of the embassy staff was at work, and many of those were heavily bandaged.

Copters To Lift Heating Units

CLEVELAND (AP)—The Ford Motor Co. will use helicopters to lift 30 heating units to the roof of its Brook Park foundry plant as part of a multi-million dollar program to install a new ventilating system.

The work was begun last December and the units are to be installed in May. There will be a total of 50 new air-intake heating units which will be able to change air completely inside the plant every 12 minutes.

Ford said the ventilating system and other improvements at the 13-year-old foundry were part of a $30 million program which also includes major changes in two plants at Dearborn, Mich., and a third at Sheffield, Ala.

Raped Girl's Description Nets Arrest

HAMILTON, Ohio (AP) — A seven-year-old girl's description of a man who beat and raped her last Thursday led to the arrest early today of a 21-year-old South Lebanon man.

Sgt. John Boyle, chief of the police department's youth aid bureau, identified the man as Lester Ambury. He said Ambury admitted the assault.

Boyle said charges would be filed later today.

Sgt. Boyle also said the man took police officers to the scene of the assault, a vacant farmhouse north of here, early today.

Police were led to the arrest by two persons who saw a sketch of the suspect drawn from descriptions given to an artist for the Ohio bureau of criminal identification, Boyle said.

Police and others described the child's description of her attacker as "amazing."

She said the man grabbed her and forced her into his car after first trying to get her to enter voluntarily. She still is in Mercy Hospital, but is reported in good condition.

Mississippi Negro Voters Welcomed

CANTON, Miss. (AP) — Negroes participating in a voter registration campaign Tuesday got red-carpet treatment from Madison County authorities.

Earlier voter registration drives by Negroes brought about arrests and demonstrations.

More than 80 Negroes, with a permit from the city to parade, filed two abreast to the century-old courthouse from a Negro church six blocks away.

They found five booths in which to take their tests. When a light rain began falling, Sheriff Jack Cauthen invited them to wait in the vacant courtroom.

The Rev. James McRee, leader of the Madison County Movement, expressed satisfaction with the treatment accorded Negroes. He said it showed a "new line of thinking" by authorities.

Madison County has about 10,000 Negroes of voting age and less than 500 are registered, the Justice Department says.

More than 50 took the test Tuesday. Results won't be available for about 30 days.

Love's Labor Is Lost; Cost Runs $56 Plus

DANVILLE, Calif. (AP) — It was a case of love's labor lost Tuesday for Willard R. Whittenberg, 19, who was fined $56 and the cost of a can of paint remover for his trouble.

Whittenberg was caught by a Mt. Diablo State Park ranger paint-spraying a big rock with the words, "Ron and Linda." Judge Richard P. Calhoun gave him two weekends to erase the artwork.

LBJ May Seek New Embassy

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson may forward to Congress today his request for authority and funds to build a new American embassy in Saigon.

There is no reason to doubt that Congress will do what the President wants — swiftly comply with his request.

Johnson announced his intention in a statement issued late Tuesday afternoon, about 18 hours after terrorists' explosives heavily damaged the embassy in the South Viet Nam capital.

"The terrorist outrage aimed at the American Embassy in Saigon shows us once again what the struggle in Viet Nam is about," the statement said.

"This wanton act of ruthlessness has brought death and serious injury to innocent Vietnamese citizens in the street as well as to American and Vietnamese personnel on duty."

It is not known if the presidential statement is the extent of the American response to the attack.

Informed sources discounted any immediate attack on Hanoi, the capital of North Viet Nam. Officials said the statement indicated no special retaliatory action was being planned.

Before it was issued, Johnson conferred for 2½ hours with Secretary of State Dean Rusk, Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara and McGeorge Bundy, special assistant to the President for national security affairs. The four met every week, and their luncheon session had been scheduled in advance of Monday night's explosion.

Late today Johnson is expected to confer with Maxwell D. Taylor, the American ambassador to Saigon who has been in the city since last Sunday.

Before Johnson's statement was released, White House press secretary George E. Reedy said when asked about the possibility of retaliatory air strikes: "I wouldn't speculate on the future right now."

The embassy, a five-story building that sits on a corner flush with the street, has been a favorite target of antigovernment insurgents since American warplanes began a series of bombing raids against North Viet Nam Feb. 7. The 14th attack was staged Tuesday.

The explosion at the embassy punched a gaping hole in the building, shattered every window and left an enormous crater in the street.

The projects were mentioned earlier in Ohio's Appalachia highway program sent to the federal government for approval or rejection before the April 1 "quick start" deadline.

Included in that program was a request for 264 miles of super-highway and alternatives for the so-called Appalachian Way.

If approved, Ohio would pay from 30 to 50 per cent of the cost.

1. A flat hourly increase of 12.5 cents an hour in the first and third years of a three-year contract.

2. Double time for all overtime.

3. A flat 10 per cent raise for all workers who do not belong to an incentive program.

4. A periodic shortening of the work week from 40 hours to 32. The emphasis on wages came as a big surprise since David J. McDonald, union president, has been saying for months he wanted total job security for his workers.

A source in the industry, who is close to the talks, said that at first glance the package appeared to represent the views of I. W. Abel, USW secretary-treasurer who has challenged McDonald for the union presidency.

Dr. Robert C. Austin Sr. of Dayton was being carried from his hotel room on a stretcher after a heart attack Tuesday when his pulse stopped.

The son, Robert C. Austin Jr., also a doctor, knelt over his father and began massaging the heart externally. He sent the hotel manager for a knife and a piece of rubber tubing and performed a tracheotomy in a hallway of the hotel. The tracheotomy allowed sufficient oxygen could get to the heart.

New York Paper Strike Averted

NEW YORK (AP) — A strike against one or more of the city's major newspapers was averted at least temporarily at 4 a.m. today after a feverish round of negotiations at City Hall.

Postponement of threatened strike action was announced by Mayor Robert F. Wagner, who was instrumental in settling the 114-day newspaper blackout which ended two years ago today.

Wagner said the printers and photoengravers unions agreed to continue negotiations with the Publishers Association of New York City, which represents seven papers, and to serve 24 hours notice before any new strike deadline was set.

51 Persons Are Killed In Morocco Air Crash

TANGIER, Morocco (AP) — A twin-engine Iberia Airlines plane plunged into the sea today a few minutes before it was scheduled to land in Tangier and 51 of the 54 persons aboard apparently died.

A fishing vessel picked up three badly injured passengers. Three Spanish fishing boats picked up 47 bodies, said a report from Gibraltar, across the Strait from Tangier.

Two Courts Are Involved In Jurisdiction Question

A citizen of France, jailed here last week on an order of Pickaway County Common Pleas Judge William Ammer, gained her freedom yesterday as the result of hearings conducted by the Fourth District Court of Appeals and the county court.

Odile Lemaster, a divorcee, was set free following a complex hearing on a writ of habeas corpus heard by the appellate court and a contempt hearing heard by Judge Ammer.

The habeas corpus action was filed by the local law firm of Crist, Davis and Weldon. The legal move claimed that Mrs. Lemaster was arrested unlawfully and demanded she be released from jail.

She was arrested Mar. 24 on the allegation that she had violated visitation rights of her children and held in the county jail under a $2,000 bond. Mrs. Lemaster was divorced in the local county court in Feb. 1963 from her husband, Kenneth R. Lemaster. At the time of the divorce action, she and her two children were in France. It was alleged that her only notice of the divorce action was by publication (newspaper advertising).

Later, according to testimony, Mr. Lemaster was remarried. In October 1963, after Lemaster, was remarried, the county court granted custody of the two children to the paternal grandparents.

During a weekend visitation, the French mother took her children back to France where they have remained since. According to Attorney Emmitt L. Crist, the children were placed in the custody of the maternal grandparents by a French court.

Other court officials have indicated that the children have a "dual citizenship." The question of jurisdiction of the children was considered the nucleus of yesterday's hearings.

The Crist, Davis and Weldon firm claimed that Judge Ammer did not have the jurisdiction to award custody of the children to the paternal grandparents and should not have issued a warrant for her arrest as requested by Roy Huffer Jr., attorney for Mr. Lemaster.

The appeals court, consisting of Judges William Brown, Marshall Carlisle and Gordon Gray, recessed at about noon. The case was continued at 2:30 p. m.

In the meantime, Judge Ammer conducted a hearing on contempt charges against Mrs. Lemaster. She was charged with violating her visitation right with the children.

Judge Ammer dismissed the case admitting that there was a "question of jurisdiction" where the children were involved. Mrs. Lemaster gained her freedom as a result of Judge Ammer's dismissal.

The appeals court reconvened and immediately dismissed the habeas corpus action since the purpose of the writ was realized through Ammer's dismissal.

As far as could be determined, an entry giving custody of the children to the paternal grandparents is still in effect. In the meantime, the Lemaster children are still in France with their mother's family.

Baseball Tilt Is Postponed

The Circleville High School baseball game with Chillicothe, originally scheduled for today, has been postponed until Friday, it was announced by CHS Coach Don Neff.

A wet field, plus the fact that neither team has had more than one outside practice, were the reasons for postponing the game, Neff said.

The game with Lancaster, scheduled here tomorrow, will be played providing weather conditions don't change, the Tiger mentor stated.

gun found in Keaton's possession.

In his answer to the state's case, Nadlin said that "some probable evidence an offense of some sort was committed, and some probable evidence to connect the defendant with the offense was presented, but it was a long way from murder one."

Nadlin, in his remarks referring to testimony by Dr. Alvarez that death was not instantaneous, indicated some evidence was presented that if local authorities had acted with dispatch, there was some question as to whether or not Francis might still be alive.

IN HIS cross examination of witnesses, Nadlin had several times asked if any effort was made to take Francis to a hospital. He also closely questioned both Deputy Wolford and Sheriff Radcliff on the distance of the nearest hospital and the time it would take an emergency vehicle to arrive there.

Dr. Alvarez testified the wound received by Francis would be classified as mortal, and if not treated immediately would undoubtedly cause death within a matter of a few minutes.

When asked by Nadlin what the probability of the life of Francis being saved would have been if he were given prompt medical attention, Dr. Alvarez answered that many factors would have to be considered before an opinion could be given.

Following the hearing, Nadlin indicated he would possibly use the time factors involved as one line of his defense if the case is heard in Common Pleas Court.

Several members of Keaton's family were present at the hearing. Nadlin declined to identify them, and they had been advised not to talk to anyone. However, a reliable source said they were Keaton's wife, two of his brothers and two sisters-in-law.

ALSO present at the hearing were two officers from the Cincinnati Police Department. They were Detectives Charles Rutledge and Robert Meisner who came here to question Keaton in connection with a "case in Cincinnati."

Earlier, Keaton had been accused of fatally shooting a man and a woman in a Dayton tavern March 15. The slaying of Francis took place, authorities charge, shortly before Keaton was captured in Jamestown in the aftermath of his flight from the Dayton tavern shootings.

The latest charge against him involves the holdup-shooting of Charles Summers, 36, a clerk in the Air City Wine Store on the North Dixie Highway in Dayton.

House Probe of KKK Opens; FBI Aid Seen

WASHINGTON (AP) — An extensive congressional investigation aimed at ripping the white cloaks of secrecy from the Ku Klux Klan was under way today, presumably with a big assist from the FBI.

The formal investigation was launched immediately after the House Committee on Un-American Activities voted unanimously Tuesday that a probe was needed.

Committee Chairman Edwin E. Willis, D-La., and Rep. Charles L. Weltner, D-Ga., the committee member who originally demanded the investigation, estimated it would take several weeks of spadework before hearings.

"It's going to require intensive and extensive investigation to prepare for the hearings," said one source.

"We want to know who they are; how many there are; where they are; what's their objectives; what's their allegiance."

At Natchez, Miss., E. L. McDaniel, grand dragon of the Mississippi Realm of the United Klans of America, said he "welcomed an investigation of the KKK." He said he hoped Willis "has not formed an opinion before investigating the truth."

President Johnson, in suggesting congressional investigations of the Klan, promised help from the FBI, Justice Department and other government agencies.

The committee already has approached the Justice Department and a committee source said the length of the investigation may depend on how much help the Justice Department, the FBI and other agencies may be able to give.

Thus, while the President was getting in short order the investigation he asked for, the Justice Department was facing up with legislation he requested to control Klan activities.

Atty. Gen. Nicholas Katzenbach told some Negro students about it Tuesday: "It's difficult to get any meaningful legislation against the organization. It would be better if we could make it easier for the federal government to prosecute individuals for specific crimes, possibly with heavier penalties."

Federal Hand On Cable TV Is Hinted

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Opponents of legislation placing Community Antenna Television (CATV) Systems under state control have predicted such systems will be under federal control by the end of the year.

Testifying Tuesday before the Ohio Senate Public Utilities and Public Works Committee were representatives of the Ohio Association of Broadcasters, the Ohio Municipal League, and of the industry itself.

The bill, by Sen. Tennyson Guyer, R-Hancock, would place Community Antenna Television Systems under jurisdiction of the Utilities Commission, which would regulate rates and set standards.

Carlton Dargusch Jr., secretary-treasurer and general counsel for the OAB told the committee there is no need for the state to step in "because there is evidence the Federal Communications Commission will assume jurisdiction by the end of 1965."

Community TV systems first were established in Ohio about 13 years ago. Since that time they have been under local or municipal control but have had a relatively free hand in establishing rates and setting service standards.

than we now have. But we haven't made any decision yet."

Katzenbach and his top aides are said to be wary of any law that would attempt to make Klan membership a crime or to require klansmen to register with the government and disclose their activities.

They know by experience the difficulties in enforcing the Internal Security Act of 1950, aimed at forcing disclosure of Communist party membership and finances.

The Committee on Un-American Activities may draft legislation itself, based on its hearings, or recommend that another committee, such as Judiciary, do it.

Scorched Earth

Two more Vietnamese died of injuries suffered in Tuesday's Communist terrorists' attack, bringing the casualty toll to two Americans and 18 Vietnamese dead; 65 Americans and nearly 100 Vietnamese wounded.

Eleven Americans were under treatment in the U.S. Navy Hospital. Seven other Americans, either seriously wounded or requiring specialists' care, were flown to Clark Air Base in the Philippines.

Access routes to the five-story embassy building were closed or patrolled by steel-helmeted police. Security was extremely tight. A police source said the street where the blast occurred might be permanently closed to traffic.

An "elaborate closing of the barn door, one day too late," said one security officer.

There was bitterness in some circles over the failure to take extraordinary security precautions earlier in view of detailed intelligence reports telling how the Viet Cong planned to blast the embassy.

Police sources said the plan had been known to both Vietnamese and American authorities for three weeks.

Current intelligence reports said Viet Cong terrorist squads have been assigned to blast the U.S. Information Service building and a four-building bachelor officers quarters in Cholon, the Chinese section of Saigon.

Police sources said police patrols in the threatened areas have been intensified and intelligence agents are working to uncover the plotters.

A police spokesman said, however, that street traffic would not be blocked in the areas.

No more additional guards had been placed at the U.S.I.S. building or the Boq complex, he said.

Woman Is Fined $150, Jailed on OMVI Charge

Frances Ann Gray, 31, Ashville, was found guilty today on a charge of operating a motor vehicle while under the influence of intoxicants by Municipal Judge Sterling M. Lamb today.

Judge Lamb fined her $150 and costs, sentenced her to three days in the County Jail and suspended her driver's license for six months.

David Thompson, 26, of Ashville, appeared in court yesterday morning on a charge of illegally transferring an automobile title. He was fined $50 and costs after entering a plea of guilty.

Nothing New

Britains' Foreign Secretary Stewart has been in Washington with the latest cold war temperature readings. They're low and going lower.

On Viet Nam, Berlin, disarmament and UN debts Soviet Foreign Minister Gromyko showed not the slightest inclination toward cooperation during recent conferences at Whitehall. Soviet propaganda has been equally tough, even to using the recent Russian flight into space to launch a tirade against the U. S. for being in Viet Nam.

Obviously, Moscow's main concern is with the division in communism's ranks and Red China's efforts to capitalize on any signs of Soviet softness toward the West. But what have attempts to hew closer to the Peking line availed the Soviets? Nothing except abuse.

Tass complains Red China's campaign to vilify the USSR has plumbed new depths. One example: The phony reception at Peking airport, complete with stretchers and ambulances, for Chinese students who looked perfectly healthy to Soviet doctors when they presented themselves for treatment after the anti-U. S. riots outside the American embassy.

And with Chinese papers thus laden with accounts of Soviet police brutality, naturally there was no room for Russia's latest space triumph. All of which could prompt Niki Khrushchev to ask, "So what's new?"

No Objection To Being 'Tyrant'

By Hal Boyle

NEW YORK (AP) — Sticks and stones may break Otto Preminger's bones — but being called names doesn't seem to hurt him.

Or, if it does, he doesn't show it.

The controversial film producer is admitted even by most of his critics to be a genius. But as a result of his caustic tantrums and his ability to reduce both stars and underlings to resentful pools of jellied ego, he sometimes is called a tyrant and such nicknames as "The Terrible-Tempered Mr. Preminger" and "Otto the Sweet."

Otto himself is icily noncommittal.

"It makes no difference. What people think of me personally doesn't interest me. I'm not running for public office or engaged in a popularity contest."

"I never object to what people say about me. I'm interested only in what they think of my work."

The theater and films have been the passion of Preminger's life since he abandoned a law career in Vienna as a youth. He has worked as actor, writer, director and producer, and now prefers the lone wolf role because it satisfies his strongly independent nature.

"I produce and direct my pictures," he said, "because if the producer and director have a fight I always win — since I am both."

"I don't have to do what other people tell me. This is a great joy, for to me life means self-expression."

At 58 Otto, a man with ice-blue eyes, a Hapsburg lip and a pink head shaven like Yul Brynner's, has made his devotion to his work pay off. He likes luxury and surrounds himself with it.

He has a gourmet's taste for fine food and wines, lives in a showplace home on the East Side here, collects expensive modern art.

Now he makes about one picture a year and plans it as methodically as a general going into battle. He likes to people his pictures with stars.

From script to final cutting every aspect of the picture bears his individual stamp.

Most of his films have made money, a fact which interests Otto because he gets a share of the profits plus a fee of around $400,000 for each picture.

"I am a relatively happy man, however," Otto said, "because I have educated myself not to become too overjoyed by success or too depressed by failure.

"Success is only important because it gives you the means to continue your work; failure, because it makes you take another look — to improve your work."

"But you must keep a sense of perspective and realize that what is important to you may not be a problem to the whole world. Most tensions in life come from overrating the importance of yourself and your problems. A sense of humor is better than any psychoanalyst."

Looking Back In Pickaway County

FIVE YEARS AGO

A concealed tear gas cartridge foiled an attempted safe-cracking job at Joe Moats Motor Sales on the Lancaster Pike.

The annual Pickaway County Spelling Bee was slated to be held in Jackson Twp. School.

Merle Thomas was elected commander of VFW Post, No. 331.

TEN YEARS AGO

The Circleville High School Chorus, under the direction of Truman Eberly, planned to sing during the mid-week Lenten Services at Trinity Lutheran Church.

Williamsport Deputy Registrar Smith Lingo was knocked unconscious and robbed of more than $650 as he was about to close his license bureau for the day.

Pickaway County Engineer Henry McCrady planned to attend the ninth annual Ohio Highway Engineering Conference at Ohio State University.

Twenty-five years ago Robert Brown, E. High St., and Lloyd Jones Jr., Park Place, were selected as Circleville's representatives to the annual Buckeye Boys' State at the Ohio State Fairgrounds.

Because of the demand for the film of "Gone With The Wind" the Cliftona Theatre was showing the picture four days instead of one week as originally scheduled.

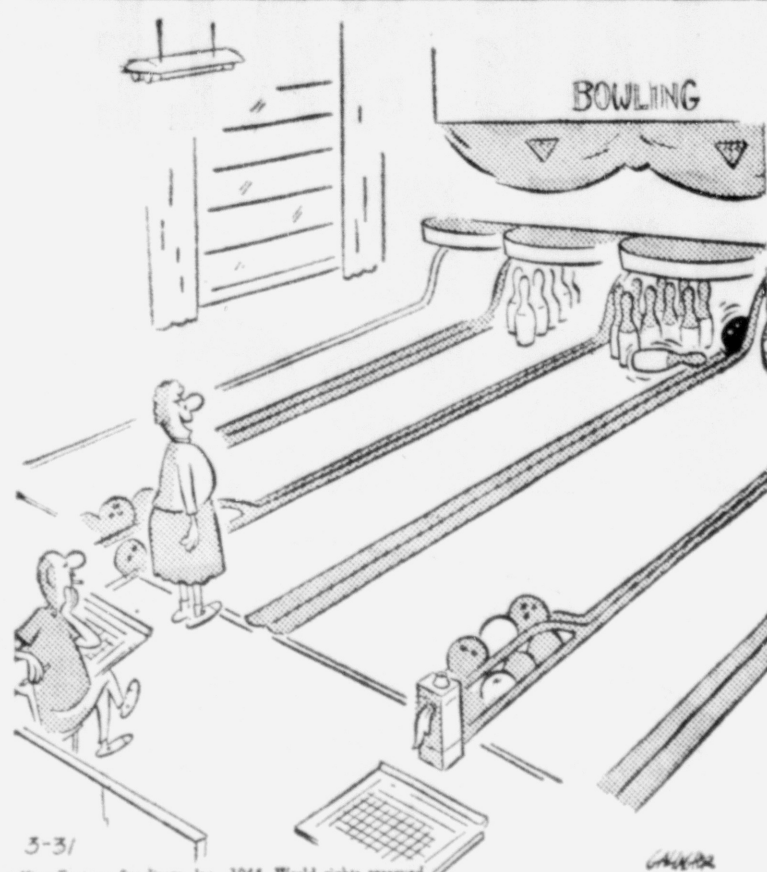

George S. Lutz of Salt Creek Twp. who practiced law here the last four years, opened offices in Adelphi.

Try and Stop Me

By BENNETT CERF

IN ACAPULCO, a clever housewife has learned an easy way to toss a salad. You cut up lettuce and tomatoes, throw in a couple of Mexican jumping beans—and the salad tosses ITSELF.

At an international convocation of savants, the question arose on what the influence of the Crusades had been on subsequent history. One old Chinese professor refused to comment, explaining, "It's still too early to tell."

Bob Hope is still grumbling about the wisecracker he encountered at a Monterey veterans' hospital. He has just concluded one of his innumerable benefit appearances, and wound up with a jaunty, "Hope you're better soon, boys." The wisecracking vet sang back, "Same to you!"

What with fewer ladies reporting at sewing bees and more spending their afternoons in bowling alleys, it strikes Gordon Macrae that the girls have changed from needles to pins.

Speaking of YOUR HEALTH...

By LESTER L. COLEMAN, M.D.

What is meant by nasal catarrh?

This vague term crept into fashionable use around the turn of the century. Since then it has been almost replaced by the less gracious "post-nasal drip" of sinusitis.

Both terms are indefinite and are indiscriminately used to describe a variety of "feelings", in the back of the nose and throat.

The exact cause of this sense of discomfort must be tracked down. Infections of the sinuses and the adenoids, with or without nasal allergies, can cause oldfashioned nasal catarrh and new-fangled post-nasal drip.

What causes painful spasms of the leg muscles during a brief, brisk walk?

Such spasms, known as claudication, can occur when the blood supply to the leg is diminished by narrowing the blood vessels or spasm of the arteries to the leg.

There is a special condition called Burger's disease which is accompanied by spasms of the leg muscles. This condition, attributed by many physicians to tobacco, occurs mostly in young adult men.

What is the main function of the thymus gland?

The thymus gland lies just beneath the breast bone. It is fairly large during infancy and early childhood. Towards puberty and adolescence, the gland, having served a relatively unknown function, tends to become smaller.

The thymus gland is considered an important gland whose real significance is not fully known.

Dean Burch Bows Out

By John Chamberlain

When Dean Burch entered the big-time political picture in January of 1964 as Barry Goldwater's secretary in charge of scheduling, he was a casual, small-city lawyer from Tucson, Ariz. But that was a long time ago as politics is reckoned. Now that Burch is about to turn over the office of chairman of the Republican National Committee to Ray Bliss of Ohio, he impresses one as a mature combination of political philosopher and operator, a person who has gained esteem in stature because of the dignified way in which he has conducted himself since he was made to walk the plank for the supposed crime of "symbolizing" Goldwaterism.

A lesser man would have sukked and gone about complaining of the injustice involved in being made a sacrificial goat. Instead of doing this, Dean Burch has used his last days as Republican national chairman to make it as easy as possible for his successor to take over the helm of a united party. Ray Bliss, it has been said, is a technician who does not recognize ideologies save when they pose "problems".

And Burch, as a man who was well on his way toward becoming a first-rate technician himself, has tried to leave Bliss with an absolute minimum of problems on the docket.

The Burch speeches and magazine articles of the past three months have de-emphasized any ideology that might be interpreted as "extreme". In his speech in Baton Rouge, La., Burch rejected what he called the "slander" that the Goldwater victory in the states of the Deep South was a "one-shot" affair, dependent on racist passions for the scope of its success. Whether this analysis of the 1964 Republican victory in states like Alabama and Mississippi is good or bad won't be known until a few more elections have been held. But the important point is that Dean Burch hopes to build a permanent Republicanism in the South on a broad base of opposition to "centralist extremism" that will not preclude local respect for the right to vote as guaranteed by the Fifteenth Amendment. In taking this line in Baton Rouge Dean Burch was being as "undivided" as possible, the better for Ray Bliss's hopes of surmounting problems on both sides of the Mason-Dixon line.

The "non-divisive" Burch has been uppermost in speeches and interviews recognizing that the "leadership of the Republican renaissance will be diversified". He hopes that "prefix Republicanism" is on its way out. He has praised Barry Goldwater, Everett Dirksen, George Romney, Charles Percy, and Robert Taft Jr. with fine impartiality.

None of this would make Burch an exciting candidate on his own. But it does prove the honesty of the man in his role as chairman of the technical aid committee that belongs to all Republicans, whether of the Rockefeller Left or the Goldwater Right. If he had been permitted to continue as chairman, he would have given as fair a technician's performance as is expected from Ray Bliss, who has always dealt with problems on a pragmatic basis.

But if Dean Burch would have behaved as an honest broker had he been allowed to carry on in Washington headquarters, it doesn't mean he will be an "anything goes" candidate when as seems likely, he chooses to stand for an elective office in his home state of Arizona. Burch believes that the U.S. electorate as a whole is conservative, and cites a number of polls to show that from 74 to 90 percent of the people are for the "Republican position". . . on prosecuting the war in Vietnam, on school busing, on reapportionment and trimming the powers of the Supreme Court, on prayers in the schools." He thinks the 1964 vote went for Lyndon Johnson partly because everybody was so prosperous and partly because of the propaganda that Barry Goldwater might make a rash President. If Dean Burch should run for Congress or for Governor of Arizona, it would be as a non-rash conservative with principles of his own. Since Burch is not by temperament "merely a technician," fate probably did him a good turn when it pried him loose from the "purely technical" job of running the Republican National Committee.

The Business World

By Sam Dawson

NEW YORK (AP) — Federal credit has been growing at a five times faster rate than the federal debt. But, like an iceberg, only a small part of the federal loans and guarantee programs may be visible to the public.

Now and over the years federal credit has aided farmers, homeowners, many kinds of businesses, and state and local governments.

Bankers, who always find debt and credit fascinating subjects, are taking a closer look just now at the expanding public credit plans and totals, and especially that part of the federal programs which the average citizen, or even his congressman, seldom sees or worries about.

Some of the problems involved in federal credit programs are: Just how much is really an unacknowledged subsidy? How much has outlived the real need? How much is currently beyond the continuing control of Congress? How much is in direct competition with private lenders?

Between 1946 and 1965 the federal debt rose from $270 billion to $318 billion, or about 17 per cent. But during the same years, the Chase Manhattan Bank of New York notes today, federal credit rose from $10 billion to almost $125 billion now outstanding, or nearly 1,200 per cent.

The bank divides such credit into two types: direct loans by the government, which rose from $4 billion in 1946 to $32 billion in 1965; and loan guarantees and loan insurance, where private lenders put up the funds but government assumes all or part of the risk — this total rose from $6 billion to $92 billion.

These guaranteed and insured loans are divided as follows: Housing and Home Finance Agency, 61 per cent; Veterans Administration, 33 per cent; Export-Import Bank, 3 per cent; Agriculture Department, 2 per cent; and all others, 1 per cent.

Since 1946 federal credits chiefly have served two purposes: to plug credit gaps where private lenders weren't adequate, because of legal restrictions, inexperience or excessive risk; and to achieve social goals, such as wider home ownership.

The bank thinks the credit programs should be reviewed because some do not appear at all in the federal administrative budget, others appear much smaller than they really are, and still others appear in a misleading way.

GOP Bill OKs Electric Chair For Juveniles

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Juveniles convicted of first-degree murder could die in the electric chair under a bill recommended for passage by the Ohio House Judiciary Committee.

Reps. Sam Landes, R-Madison, and Taliesin Evans, R-Guernsey, sponsored the proposal which spells out procedures to be followed for juveniles arrested for committing a capital crime.

Under its provisions, juvenile court judges would relinquish jurisdiction in such cases to common pleas court with the option of certifying that the defendant is "emotionally, intellectually, and physically sound."

With this certification, defendants would be tried as adults and subject to the death penalty upon conviction, Landes and Evans explained.

In other legislative developments, the GOP-dominated House Rules Committee voted to kill the controversial "fractional vote" reapportionment plan offered by minority Democrats, asserting it is unconstitutional.

The action surprised no one in view of Republican campaigning for their own reapportionment plan, which will appear on the May Primary ballot in the form of a proposed constitutional amendment.

The Senate Commerce and Labor Committee reported out a compromise "fair housing" bill considerably weaker than one sought by statewide labor and civil rights groups. The compromise bill now goes to the Senate Rules Committee.

Standing committees recommended five other bills for passage during an otherwise dull legislative day.

They would reduce to a simple majority the vote needed to pass local bond issues at general elections (with 55 per cent majority required at special and primary elections); exempt educational research groups from the sales tax, and require notification to school boards of tax valuation changes.

The Senate Agriculture and Conservation Committee recommended passage of two house-approved bills — one to change the name of the Agricultural Experiment Station at Wooster to the Ohio Agricultural Research and Development Center, and another setting standards for Ohio's honey and beeswax industry.

House members passed three minor bills and a fourth increasing the penalty for the illegal taking of deer in Ohio. Rep. Delbert B. Jeffery, R-Paulding, along with seven cosponsors, offered the proposal which would add penalties of 30 days in jail plus a three-year hunting ban and increase the maximum fine from $100 to $500.

Among a half-dozen new bills introduced in both chambers were proposals to require annual or semi-annual motor vehicle inspections by the highway patrol and increase the monetary limit of original jurisdictions of common pleas courts from $300 to $500.

Ohio Democrat Solons Name Kirwan Chairman

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House Democratic Congressional Committee re-elected Ohio's Michael J. Kirwan to a 10th term as chairman Tuesday.

Kirwan, of Youngstown, first was elected chairman in 1947. The committee's task is to work for election of more Democrats to the House.

New Gardening Gadgets

NEW HEDGE SHEARS — Better balance makes these new hedge shears easier to handle. One of the new aids to ease the job of gardening. They are of interest to husbands because they're lightweight and easier for wives to wield.

By JOAN O'SULLIVAN
When a city slicker moves to Suburbia, he makes a great discovery.

Gardens don't grow by themselves. Only weeds do!

To thrive, gardens need tender, loving care and plenty of it.

Taking care of a garden may be a labor of love — but it's work. Happily, however, it's work that's getting easier, thanks to new gardening gadgets.

Whether your garden is front lawn, back yard or estate size, you'll be interested in one or more of these worksaving aids. For clip jobs, for example, new grass and pruning shears have what might be called built-in muscle power.

They feature a unique engineering principle that adds extra cutting force as the cutting job becomes more difficult.

Additional assets include an adjustable setting button on the pruners which allows three different cutting positions — flower and twig, full open or, for storing safely, lock.

The grass shears can be set for half open for quick trimming, full open or lock.

All models also feature cushion comfort grips.

In hedge shears, one new-come is of interest to husbands—lightweight shears that wives can handle. Come into the garden, Maud, and get to work!

The one thing every garden and lawn needs is sprinkling. And the one thing every gardener needs is a sprinkler that follows directions, as it were, and tends to its job automatically.

Intrigued by the idea? You'll be even more intrigued by a novel sprinkler that follows a nypath laid out by the hose. It even climbs hills and turns around corners, winding up its own hose as it goes.

It has a two-speed control to allow slow or fast movement. It even has a shut-off valve that can de-activate it at any point along its course.

While we're hosing down the subject of gardens, two other aids are of interest, too.

One is a timer that automatically meters your water for sprinkling, pool filling or outdoor showers. Attach it to the faucet or sprinkler, set the dial for light, average or heavy watering and proceed with other chores — like weeding or pruning. The sprinkler will turn off automatically when the job's done to your specifications.

Also handy for keeping garden paths, patios and driveways neat is a device that attaches to your hose. It's a broom, but not the standard kind. This one sweeps away leaves, twigs and whatever, with streams of water.

On wheels, it's easy to move about and has a gun-nozzle handle that provides fingertip on-and-off control.

Gardening gadgets such as these save time, and we know how you'll spend that time, too — leaning on the fence, bragging to a neighbor about your new gardening aids.

Classmates and friends attending were: Tommy Starr, John McRoberts, Tommy McGuire, Cinda Peters, Brett Christy, Gary Moore, David Smith, Ricky Moore, Randy Swoyer, Beth Taylor, Jimmy Heacock, Bruce Blue, Cheryl Kirkwood, Donna Wickline, Cris Woodward.

Gifts were sent by Marie Wilkin, his great aunt.

Family Circle Members Meet

Plans were made for a congregational dinner in June when members of the Lutheran Family Circle met Sunday evening in the parish house.

Mrs. George Montgomery, president, opened the meeting with group singing. Miss Lois Monroe had the devotions.

Mrs. R. D. Good and Mrs. Grace Binkley were in charge of the program. Douglas Good presented a tap dance; Gladys Troutman, readings and Teresa Troutman, a piano solo. A combo band composed of Larry Tipton, Dale Compton, Dick Radcliff and Douglas Good presented several selections.

Dear Abby: Dating While Waiting!

DEAR ABBY: I am 20 and practically engaged to a boy I'll call Bill. He is overseas in the service right now. Before he left, he said I could date if I wanted to. I didn't date at all for the first month, then this boy I'll call George started asking me out. I went out with him because it was better than sitting home. I told him from the start that we could only be friends, as I had a boy friend in the service I was waiting for. He said he understood, but he also told me on our third date that he was in love with me. I don't want to stop dating George because he is a nice guy and a lot of fun, but I don't want to see him get hurt, either. My mother says I shouldn't be dating at all, but I don't see any harm in it as long as I don't lead anyone on. What do you think about all this? I don't want to hurt anyone.

WAITING FOR BILL
DEAR WAITING: I think you think you are "in love" with Bill. But if you were, you would not mind "sitting home." George may be a "nice guy and a lot of fun," but he regards you as more than just a friend, and given the time and opportunity (which you are allowing him) he could change your mind about him. Don't worry about "hurting" George. I have an idea he can look after himself.

DEAR ABBY: What do you think of a 50-year-old so-called society woman, who tells every one that the life-sized painting of a nude woman hanging in her drawing room, is her?

CURIOS
DEAR CURIOS: If the nude is not she, she is an exhibitionistic liar. If it is she, she is merely exhibitionistic.

DEAR ABBY: My experience with people who never knock but just walk in, beats the one you had printed in your column recently. Back in 1947 we had a neighbor woman in Hammond, Ind., who always walked into our house without knocking and she'd walk into any room of the house the same way. She didn't know whether or not my husband was home. (He traveled.) So to make a long story short, she came into my house, and went hunting for me in all the rooms. (I happened to be out in the back yard emptying the garbage pail.) Well, she walked into the bathroom just as my husband was stepping out of the bathtub. She fainted dead away and when my husband went to catch her, he slipped back into the tub and broke his leg. The lady cracked her head on the doorknob and fractured her skull. I had to call TWO ambulances!

Population In Women's Prison Climbs

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Inmate population at Marysville Reformatory for Women—along with other state penal institutions, has grown to record numbers, Ohio Corrections Chief Maury Koblenz reports.

The increase in women inmates was the "most significant" finding in his survey of prison population, he said, noting that on two days last week the male and female convicts totaled more than 12,000 for a new record.

Noting that the Marysville population is "shooting up," Koblenz said that "for many years, Marysville had an average of 350 women. But on Jan. 1, 1964, it had 405; on Jan. 1, 1965, it stood at 465, and on March 25 this year it reached the record high of 485. It looks like it's holding there."

Koblenz said his division is trying to analyze the Marysville increase, saying that "it sounds like commitments are catching up with the women. Not as many judges are being so lenient with women as in the past. There's more repeating. Women have worn out their probation."

He said the Ohio prison population reached 12,000 for the first time March 23 with 12,012 behind bars. On March 24, it climbed another notch to 12,018.

Rock Hudson Says His Last Movie Was 'Filthy'

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Rock Hudson says his last movie was "filthy." It all came out while he was taking a lunch break.

Across the aisle from Rock was the Italian dish, Claudia Cardinale, who is his costar in "Blindfold." It is an adventure drama, and Rock reported that he and Claudia have no bedroom scenes in it.

"That's right," Rock repeated. "no bedroom scene. And you want to know something? I'm glad."

"I suppose you think bedroom scenes are fun," Rock continued.

"Forget it. In the first place, the bed is hot from all these lights shining on it. In the second place, the lights make you uncomfortable. In the third place, any enthusiasm you might have for the scene is quickly quenched by just looking at the bored faces of the crew staring at you."

An added hazard can be the leading lady, particularly if she has a penchant for garlic.

"Blindfold" is Rock's first drama after a lengthy string of sex comedies. Does the switch mean that he is weary of films in which he chases in and out of boudoirs?

"I think the public is weary," he sighed. "The cycle has been pushed about as far as it can go, and I think light comedy is on the wane. The boundaries have been extended almost to the limit, with producers trying to see how dirty they can get. The last one I did was filthy."

Was he referring to the unreleased "A Very Special Favor," in which he is engaged by Charles Boyer to seduce his daughter, Leslie Caron?

"That's it," he confirmed. "Filthy. I thought it was filthy when I read the script, and I still think it's filthy. But the studio tried it out at a Friday night sneak preview and the audience screamed. So maybe that's what they want."

Tribunal Decrees Term Of 1-20 Years in Slaying

AKRON, Ohio (AP) — Leroy Dunlap, who eluded the electric chair for 44 years after breaking jail, was sentenced today to 1 to 20 years in Ohio Penitentiary for a 1920 robbery-slaying.

Dunlap, now a 64-year-old grandfather, was sentenced by a three judge panel, which denied probation. He will be eligible for a parole hearing in 10 months and could be released from prison in 11 months.

He was sentenced for the fatal shooting of waiter Steve Bosso during a 1920 holdup in Akron. Dunlap was convicted in absentia of first degree murder but escaped before the 1920 sentence was read along with two of four other men who were with him during the shooting.

He was arrested last October at a soldiers' home in Washington, D. C., where he had been living since his retirement from the Air Force in 1959.

Last week, at what was supposed to have been a retrial of the old murder charge, Dunlap pleaded guilty to first-degree manslaughter and asked for probation.

Summit County Prosecutor James V. Barbuto said then if Dunlap hadn't changed his plea he would have had to recommend "letting the old guy go free. I didn't have the evidence, witness—nothing for a first-degree murder conviction."

All transcripts of the original trial had been destroyed and the witnesses who could be located had hazy memories.

Dunlap's attorneys had asked that he be allowed to return to the old soldiers home and live out his life.

Dunlap used the name Harry Walker while running from the law. He has a wife, a son and two grandchildren living in St. Louis. He had been traced through his military fingerprints which were matched against a "wanted record."

Two of Dunlap's four accomplices, George Neichter and his brother, Louis, escaped with him from jail. George Neichter was recaptured a few days after the escape, convicted and sentenced to die in the electric chair. However, his sentence was commuted by the Ohio governor and he was pardoned in 1933.

Louis Neichter, who was never recaptured, died in 1928 in a fall from a water tower in Massillon.

The others charged with the slaying—John Smith and Ralph Richardson — pleaded guilty. They were sentenced to life and paroled after 11 years in the penitentiary.

Here's Panorama Of Week News

Editor's note — A proposed crackdown on California slowpoke drivers, Mickey Mantle on snowshoes? Naming a university stirs legislative battle. A ton of air-conditioning per pack of cigarettes, bye-bye choo choo. Bits of the big picture of life in the United States.

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP) — Two California legislators are trying to do something to make the state's slowpoke drivers move a little faster — or move over.

Assemblyman George Milias has introduced a bill requiring freeway drivers traveling slower than traffic to move to the right lane. Slow drivers now move to the right chiefly by tradition, prodded by honking horns and blinking lights of fast moving motorists.

Milias' bill would also give the California Highway Patrol the power to brand lagging motorists in fast lanes as "reckless drivers."

MINNEAPOLIS (AP) St. Paul Minn. (AP) — When major league baseball came to this north country where spring is sometimes reluctant, cynics looked forward to the spectacle of Mickey Mantle some day rounding second base in snowshoes.

This, if ever, could be the year.

The Yankees open against the Twins here in 13 days.

Three feet of snow has been stripped from the turf of Metropolitan Stadium. There was a six-inch layer of ice under the snow.

In this most-cursed winter in recent Minnesota history, the temperature has dropped below zero for 48 days — most recently on March 24, the fourth day of spring. The record for such things is 50 days.

RALEIGH, N.C. (AP) — What is in a name?

In the case of "North Carolina State of the University of North Carolina at Raleigh" there is a lot of fighting in the North Carolina General Assembly.

Alumni of the Raleigh school, led by Rep. George Wood, refuse to accept that title, saying it is "embarrassing, confusing and meaningless."

Dr. William Friday, president of the consolidated university, counters that changing the school's name to North Carolina State University at Raleigh, as alumni are seeking to do, would destroy the one-university concept in North Carolina forever.

The two sides battled bitterly through the 1963 General Assembly and are at it again.

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — How many cigarettes will 56,000 persons smoke during a two-hour baseball game?

I.A. Naman, an air-conditioning engineer, says the answer is 6,600 packages.

Naman engineered the $5-million air-conditioning job for the $31.6-million Harris County domed stadium the New York Yankees and the Houston Astros are to open the night of April 9.

Never before has such a job been required for a single room 700 feet in diameter with a maximum ceiling height of 202 feet.

By coincidence, the stadium's final engineering plans called for 6,600 tons of air conditioning, or one ton per package of cigarettes.

Aid for Narcotics Addicts Sought

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Narcotics addicts would be dealt with as medical patients rather than as criminals under a bill introduced in the Ohio Senate.

Sen. Max Dennis, R-Clinton, offered the proposal which would place drug addicts under treatment in new units at Ohio's mental hospitals.

Dennis noted that arrests of narcotics users have been "increasing in alarming numbers" and said the present system of throwing them into jail "has not proven a deterrent."

"I believe we ought to try the medical approach," he said. Under this plan, persons arrested for possessing narcotics would undergo examinations by court - designated physicians to determine whether they are addicts.

Hopes for Tangelo
SIRACUSA, Sicily (AP) — Sicilian fruit raisers have high hopes for their new hybrid fruit, the tangelo. It is a cross between the tangerine and the grapefruit (called in Italian pomelo). The tangelo is as big as a grapefruit, sweeter and very juicy.

Jungle Heat Is Formidable Enemy in South Viet Nam

By HORST FAAS
AP Photographer

TAY NINH, South Viet Nam (AP) — Red ants marched across Sgt. Roger McAllister's face and down his heaving chest.

McAllister, from Milford, N.H., didn't even try to brush them off.

A sprig of leaves had fallen across his face. His helmet had tipped from his head into the jungle foliage. His body oozed sweat.

McAllister was the victim of an enemy that had proved more dangerous than the Communist Viet Cong. He was cut down by the searing, all-pervading heat of South Viet Nam's jungles.

Fifteen minutes later, McAllister stirred. His eyes flickered and his voice rasped; "Just imagine, there's snow now in New Hampshire."

Then he slid back into a semi-coma.

Scores of Vietnamese troops were scattered around the jungle floor near McAllister, in almost as poor condition. Their water was gone, and the intense heat had sapped their strength.

There was virtually no place to bring in a helicopter to pick up McAllister and the Vietnamese who were in the worst shape.

Thirty-six hours earlier a helicopter had dropped McAllister into the jungle 12 miles north of Tay Ninh as a pathfinder for a helicopter-borne force.

With Capt. Joseph T. Elliott of Greenwood, S.C., he located a grassy landing zone, laid out markers for the troop-carrying helicopters and called in fire from armed helicopters against snipers.

Led by a Viet Cong defector, the battalion moved south through deep, treacherous jungle. The men scrambled under bamboo and through spiny bracken and dodged mines and grenade traps on trees and in bushes.

The whole area was burning because of earlier air strikes. By midday most of the men had drunk their water. Maps showed numerous streams in the area. All had dried up earlier in the dry season.

As dawn broke the next morning, there was a desperate air among the troops. Water became more important than the Viet Cong.

McAllister, with a radio strapped to his back, began to waver. A big man, he had to crawl on his hands and knees to get through the undergrowth. The advance troops marked the mines and traps with white paper, but the U.S. adviser could hardly see the pieces in the shimmering heat.

The heat built up to over 100 degrees. "The river's just a thousand meters ahead," one soldier cried out. It was a dry stream. They reached a muddy water hole. Several Vietnamese soldiers drank from it. They came down with cramps.

McAllister showed signs of distress. Someone offered to take his radio. "I can carry on," he said. "I've been through jungle schools before I came over here."

A little while later he collapsed.

lapsed. Scores of Vietnamese soldiers collapsed with him.

Elliott called up the L19 spotter plane overhead by radio. It told him a helicopter might be able to land about 500 yards away to pick up McAllister.

Staff Sgt. James E. Pippin, from Lauderdale, Miss., volunteered to find it. He disappeared into the jungle with his radio. A Vietnamese officer poured a little of the precious remaining water over McAllister's forehead.

Pippin found the clearing and collapsed. But he made radio contact with the helicopters, the spotter plane and the men left in the jungle.

He guided in an armed helicopter, the only one available.

The Vietnamese carrying McAllister to the landing site on a stretcher collapsed. Elliott took over.

The helicopter landed. One of the pilots, Lt. David H. Price of Columbus, Ga., waded into the jungle to carve a path. He, Sgt. Leonard Peala of the Philippines and Elliott dragged McAllister to the landing zone.

McAllister's weight made the helicopter too heavy. It had to drop its rocket pods into the jungle so it could take off. Those left on the ground had to form a human wall and push down the towering elephant grass.

"Bring us back some water," shouted Elliott as the helicopter departed for nearby Tay Ninh. He and the others crawled on the ground, expecting a Viet Cong attack.

Twenty minutes later the helicopter returned and threw off seven cans of water. They set off a celebration.

The Americans and the Vietnamese filled their helmets and poured the liquid over themselves, their spirits rising. The helicopter men looked on in silent amazement, then flew off.

Next morning the battalion discovered a formidable cache of Viet Cong weapons. They also found a river with water in it.

"O-W-W-W-W!"—A South Vietnamese marine flings his arms and shrieks as Viet Cong bullets hit from an ambush near Binh Ba. The wounded marine was the only casualty of the skirmish. The raiders escaped. (Radiophoto)

MEDICATION FOR EPILEPSY

Q. When, if ever, can a person who suffers from epilepsy stop taking anti-seizure drugs?

A. This is something for the doctor to decide. Many patients prefer (and are so advised by their physician) to take medication for the rest of their lives rather than risk seizures. Others, whose seizures have been controlled for several years, wonder how they should go about discontinuing drugs. It is an individual problem which should be discussed with the physician.

UNWANTED HAIR

Q. Is there any new and effective treatment for unwanted facial hair? Please answer promptly—this is a matter of intense embarrassment for me—and perhaps many other girls.

A. Permanent removal of superfluous hairs still depends on an electrical instrument for destroying the roots one by one. As we have said before, there is always some risk of scarring. The procedure (electrolysis) is tedious and applicable only in selected cases. Best results are obtained in women who have a few facial hairs that are larger and coarser than others. Electrolysis is not practical if there are many coarse hairs or an even but pronounced growth of fine dark hair.

Four Science Pupils To Get Caravan Nod

Four outstanding science students from Circleville and Pickaway County High Schools will join a "Chemical Caravan" to Columbus on April 27 for a program on careers in the chemical industry. The event will be sponsored at Ohio State University by the Chemical Industry Council of Ohio.

The program will be presented for several hundred students from throughout the state as a highlight of the observance of Chemical Progress Week April 26-May 1.

The speakers will be Albert J. Gracia, vice president of research for the Goodyear Tire & Rubber Co. of Akron, and Alfred B. Garrett, Ohio State's vice president of research. The program also will include a luncheon in the Ohio Union Building, showing of a sound film strip titled "Chemical Careers Unlimited" and tours of chemistry and other laboratories at the university.

The program was conceived by the Manufacturing Chemists' Assn. to alert students to the career opportunities available in the chemical industry. It is expected to become an annual event in Ohio.

The four students to be named later, will be guests of the E. I. du Pont de Nemours Co. which is a member of the Central Region of the CIC.

Fisher did not indicate when the committee will vote on the bill.

Knight said provisions of the bill call for a study of piping water from Lake Erie to sections of the Huron, Portage, and Sandusky river basins and adjacent areas in North - Central Ohio from which surface waters drain into Lake Erie.

The study would be conducted in cooperation with the Ohio Water Commission "and appropriate state and local agencies, governments, and private interests," according to wording of the measure.

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The Public Utilities Commission of Ohio has urged Congress, in a resolution, to repeal the federal excise tax levied on telephone and telegraph service.

The World Today

By James Marlow

WASHINGTON (AP) — When Congress investigates the Ku Klux Klan — there are at least 14 — it will find they are too split by bickering and rivalries to form a single national organization under one leader.

The total membership is probably not over 15,000 although they spread across the Southern states and some leaders have made fantastic claims about numbers. The members in general are not credited with very high intelligence.

The fact that in this free and open society so many men would find it necessary to hide under a hood necessarily raises questions about their stability and their purpose.

They proclaim their patriotism but their main target is Negroes, with Catholics, Jews and the foreign-born secondary targets. They have added a new target in recent years: the "Communist conspiracy."

Klansmen live in a childlike world of hoods, robes, symbols, secret membership and passwords, and the kind of titles that would be more appropriate in a fairy tale than in the kind of grisly world klansmen see.

But the actions of some of them are not at all childlike, as Chairman Edwin E. Willis, D-La., of the House Committee on Un-American Activities pointed out to reporters Tuesday after the committee unanimously voted to examine the Klans.

He said preliminary inquiries indicate that "shocking crimes are carried out by highly secret action groups within the Klans known as 'knockout squads' or 'holy terrors.'"

The actions of these goon squads are disclaimed by Klan officials when they are caught, Willis said, "to protect those Klan leaders who are parties to the crimes committed and to mislead Klan membership and the public."

So far there is no public evidence that Klan leaders knew beforehand of any of the crimes charged to klansmen or that klansmen in general knew. But the Klans have had, and still have, a vicious history.

Corruption was piled on top of murder in the past. As late as 1955 five Klans — no longer in existence, at least under their old names — were on the attorney general's list of subversive organizations. No new list has been issued in the past 10 years.

Klans vary in size. The smallest — the Mississippi Knight of the Ku Klux Klan — reportedly is a one-man Klan operating in the Mississippi Gulf coast. The largest with about 5,000 members, is the United Klans of America, Inc., with headquarters in Tuscaloosa, Ala. It has members in eight Southern states.

Here are some of the names and titles in the Klan world:

Invisible empire — Supposedly covering the whole country; a realm — one state; province — a county or several counties; a klavern or den — a local chapter and thus the smallest unit.

Imperial Wizard — Ruler of his whole group; Genii — the wizard's cabinet of a dozen or more officers; Grand Dragon — boss of a realm; Hydras — assistate to the great titan; Exalted Cyclops — head of a klavern; Terrors — assistants to a cyclops.

Klalliff — deputy boss of the whole Klan; Klokard — lecturer or teacher; Kludd — chaplain; Kligrapp — secretary; Klabe — treasurer; lexter — guard; Klok — investigator; Night Hawk — custodian of the fiery cross; and leagle — organizer.

A convention is an "Imperial Konvokation" and the executive committee is the "Imperial Kloneilium." Klans have seven significant symbols although whether all use them is questionable: a Bible, fiery cross, an American flag, a sword, a robe, a hood, and a container of water signifying usefulness and purity.

Funds are raised through a rich patron in the background or through initiation fees — $10 to $25 — and dues — $6 to $24 a year — or meeting donations collected in buckets.

Some money is made selling klansmen their robes. White ones sell for around $15 but usually cost half that much. The color of a robe is a status symbol in the Klans. An ordinary member dresses in white, officers wear black, red, green, or gold robes. The imperial wizard wears purple satin.

KKK in Ohio Exists Only 'On Paper'

NEWARK, Ohio (AP) — The Ku Klux Klan exists "only on paper" in Ohio, Rep. John M. Ashbrook, R-Ohio, says.

Ashbrook, representing Ohio's 17th congressional district, said in a prepared statement Tuesday that three months of preliminary hearings by the House un-American Activities Committee show Ohio is not among the nine states with active KKK organizations.

Flyn Harvey of Columbus, grand dragon of the KKK in Ohio, could not be reached immediately for comment. He reported last week there were 1,000 Klan members under his command.

Ashbrook was appointed to a five-man un-American Activities subcommittee to investigate activities of the Klan.

Ashbrook said, so far, preliminary investigations place actual Klan strength well below publicized estimates. These estimates run as high as 100,000 members but Ashbrook said the Klan's real strength probably is not over 15,000.

AF Program Expands Its Eligibility

The Air Force announced today broader eligibility zones for college students seeking Air Force commissions through its new two-year ROTC program.

Specifically, the new program for the first time provides an opportunity for students, having two academic years remaining, to count within those two years, both undergraduate and graduate work.

Major Gene T. Tyner, USAF and Professor of aerospace studies at Ohio University, stated that applications are being accepted now for entry into the required six-week field training course, prerequisite to enrollment in the two-year commissioning program this fall.

Since the Air Force will conduct two six-week training periods, applicants have the opportunity to select the training period session that best fits their particular summer plans. The first training period begins June 13, and the second August 1.

Two Air Force bases have been selected for the field training courses, each conducting two sessions. Maxwell Air Force Base, Montgomery, Ala., and the Air Force's professional schools, the Air War College, the Air Command and Staff College and the Squadron Officer's School, will train approximately 200 Air Force officer candidates. Keesler Air Force Base, Biloxi, Miss., will handle the remaining candidates at its major Air Force Electronics School facilities.

Upon satisfactory completion of the special six-week field training course, required under the provisions of the "ROTC Vitalization Act of 1964," candidates will be enrolled in the new two-year Air Force ROTC program when they enroll in school this fall.

Under the terms of the program, cadets receive $40 monthly while attending. The number of classroom hours required to complete the course has been reduced in keeping with today's crowded academic schedules.

Upon completion of the two-year program, graduates will receive active duty assignments as professional officers in career areas relative to their fields of study.

Political Spokesmen Give Preview of '66 Campaign

WASHINGTON (AP)—Speeches by retiring GOP National Chairman Dean Burch and Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey forecast the trend the 1966 congressional election campaign is likely to take.

In brief, here are the themes expressed Monday night by Burch, speaking at Anaheim, Calif., and Humphrey, speaking at Baltimore, Md.:

Republican: President Johnson's "Great Society" threatens to smother individual initiative and freedom. Democratic: Johnson's program will bring dignity and freedom at home and in the world.

Burch, who will be succeeded in his party post Thursday by Ray Bliss, told a GOP gathering that under the "absolute dominance" of Congress by the President, "representative government... is in danger of being reduced to self-protection at the pork barrel."

Humphrey told a Democratic dinner that the "Great Society" recognizes that "a second car and power mowers and dry martinis are not enough."

"We stand for the dignity and fulfillment of individual man and woman," he said. "We stand for the chance for each man to make something better of himself. We stand for free speech and government of the people. We stand for peace without conquest."

But Burch said the Johnson administration wants to inject "federal authority in virtually every aspect of our lives."

"Whether it is the fate of your children in kindergarten, or filtering the air you breathe, or taking a trip to Boston, Lyndon Johnson has made a smothering proposal for the federal government to handle it better than you could handle it yourself," he said.

Humphrey said the "Great Society" program is aimed at eliminating poverty, racial discrimination in employment, opening the doors to immigrants and at guaranteeing the right to vote. He said that the beauty of America can be lost if steps are not taken to prevent it.

"Clean water and air can be and are polluted," he said. "Automobile junk yards and billboards can crowd in on our highways. Our cities can lose their precious open space. Our landmarks can be destroyed."

Collection Of Fines Is On Decrease

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Ohio courts collected and turned over to the state more than $1,551,000 in state liquor fines and fines and forfeitures originating from state highway patrol cases during 1964, State Auditor Chester Goble reported Tuesday. The total marked a decline of $28,748 below the 1963 collections, he said.

Goble reported the bulk of the revenue came from highway patrol fines, a total of $1,505,913. This represented the state's 45 per cent share of all patrol fines and forfeitures which totaled $3,346,474.

Muskingum County courts were the greatest single source of revenue for the state in patrol cases, turning over $52,516 as the state's share. This meant that actual fines and forfeitures in that county totaled $116,703. Other county courts which produced high revenues for the state included: Delaware $48,792; Sandusky $45,023; Madison $45,010; Ashland $43,737; Montgomery $42,635 and Trumbull, $42,574.

The state's 50 per cent share of liquor fines brought in another $45,154, which meant that actual fines throughout the state were $90,308 as against the $46,754 the state received for 1963 out of total fines of $93,508.

The 1964 liquor fines, Goble said, were collected in 60 counties two more than in 1963. Cuyahoga County was far ahead with $18,766 turned into the state, with Hamilton County second with $3,473.

Preservation of History Is Costly Task

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — It's costly to preserve and restore history.

Take Independence Hall, home of the world-famed Liberty Bell. Since 1960 the government has spent more than $1.2 million to keep the 233-year-old brick Colonial building from collapsing.

And when this massive restoration is completed, perhaps by 1969, the job will have cost around $2 million.

Expensive but necessary, says Supt. Melford O. Anderson of Independence National Historical Park which operates and guards the hall and 15 other nearby historic structures.

Workmen are restoring, for $87,400 what is called "America's most historic room" — the Assembly Room in Independence Hall.

The Continental Congress met in the room. It was here that the Declaration of Independence and the Articles of Confederation were signed, and the Constitution drafted.

Yet millions who have visited the hall have never seen the 40-by-40-foot chamber as it actually was in 1775-76 when George Washington, Benjamin Franklin, Thomas Jefferson and others decided what course America's 13 Colonies should take in their dispute with England.

On this July 4th, the Assembly Room will return to its original appearance, says Anderson.

The restoration began last month with the chamber bared to its walls, the ceiling stripped to its timbers.

"Every nail hole on the brick wall, every scrap of evidence has been measured," says architect Lee H. Nelson. "Mortars have been compared. Carving details have been analyzed. And thousands of photographs have been studied."

After the Assembly Room is restored the same work will begin in the Supreme Court chamber, across the hallway.

Next the hallway, where the original floor level was eight inches lower than present, will be restored.

After that it will be the upstairs, scene of Colonial ceremonies and banquets. Between 1775 and 1785, while the Continental Congress used the Assembly Room, the Pennsylvania Legislature met upstairs.

The City of Philadelphia purchased Independence Hall in 1818. The federal government assumed responsibility for its preservation in 1941, but the city still retains ownership.

"The building was in very bad shape when we came in," says Anderson.

Despite the renovation the hall remains open to the public. Rehabilitation of Independence Hall is the key project in development of a national park that, when completed, will cover five city blocks and more than 20 historic buildings.

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A Columbus motel manager missing since March 11 has been working as a night clerk in a Kansas City hotel, police here said they learned Tuesday.

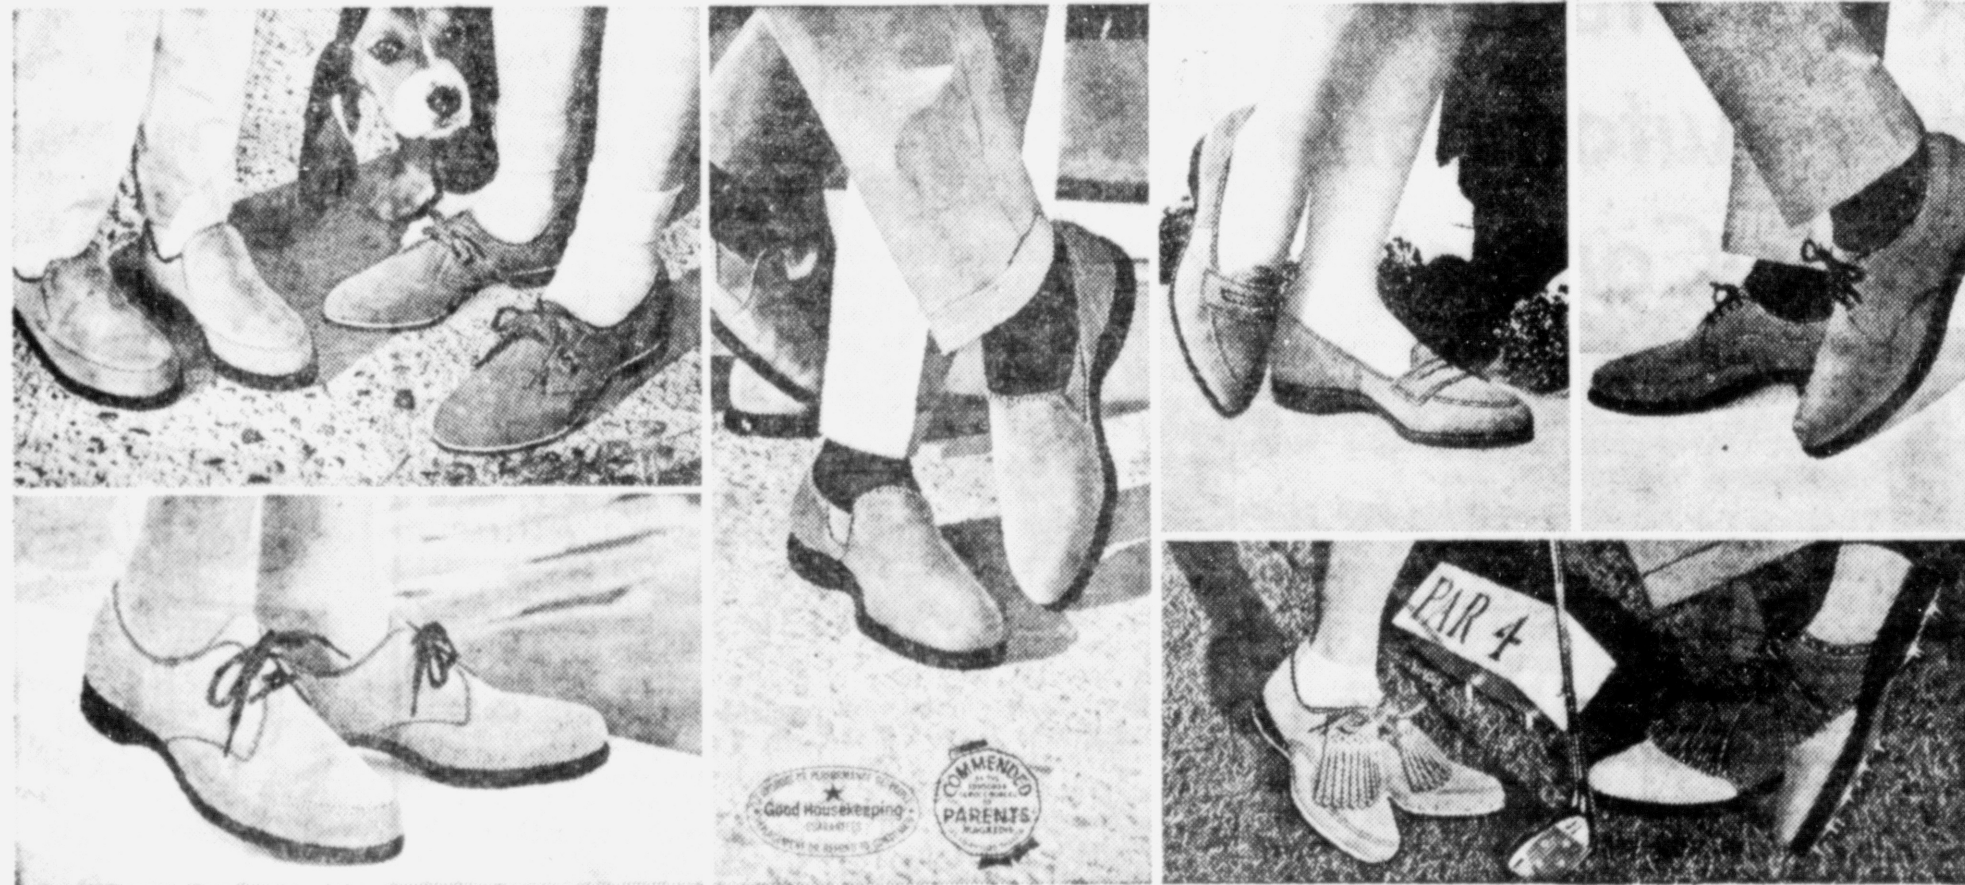

Police had been searching for Joseph Wing, 49, who was reported missing after he failed to show up for work at the Airway Lodge, Inc., where he worked as manager.

BLOCK'S CIRCLEVILLE'S BETTER SHOES

99% of the people who have a choice choose Gas for heating their new home.

Any questions?

If you heat with Gas, you can be sure you enjoy the best heating fuel available. Why does practically every modern homeowner prefer Gas?

Economy. Gas heat is far and away your best buy—electric heat, for example, costs about 2 1/2* times as much as Gas heat.

Comfort. Gas heating systems have warm, flowing air—much more comfortable than the oppressive, still air of electric resistance heat.

Cleanliness. Tracked-in and air-borne dust and dirt are present in all homes, but Gas forced air heating systems have built-in filters to trap them. Electric systems generally have no filters. No place for the dirt to go but on your walls and furniture.

Good reasons? You bet. Whether your home is old or new, large or small, Gas can heat it best.

Ask your heating dealer or contractor for his recommendations... we're sure he'll recommend Gas.

*Based on the lowest residential electric rate in our service area, and the average gas rate. In many areas the cost difference will be even greater.

TROUBLE SHOOTERS — These four Circleville High School students are cramming for an unusual test. They are, left to right: Leland Schlegler, Chester Hill, Arthur Johnson and Phillip Stevens. Hill and Johnson will represent CHS in an automotive trouble contest to be held in Cincinnati. Johnson and Stevens are alternates.

2 CHS Students Enter Automobile Repair Contest

Arthur Johnson Jr. and Chester Hill of the Circleville High School Automotives class have been tentatively selected to represent CHS in a contest of wit and skill.

Sponsored by the Chrysler-Plymouth Division of Chrysler Corporation, the contest is an exercise in elimination of planned malfunctions. It also means bringing the dead vehicle into prime operating condition according to factory specifications.

Although a clock will determine the winner, the car must operate perfectly to qualify. A new 1965 model Plymouth will be used by each team and each car will have the same "bugs" as all others.

The event will take place May 8, at Central High School in Cincinnati. Only one team, or two boys per school, may enter. Hill and Johnson have been working out problems induced in a stationary engine in the local high school in preparation for the event.

LATER Chrysler Corporation will provide a new 1965 model Plymouth for the team here. This will not be the same car used in Cincinnati. It will serve only as a training aid and for familiarization.

Wes Edstrom Jr. and Gary George of the two local Chrysler Corporation dealerships will assist the instructor in further

Firemen See 2 Kiddies Die in Pony Barn Fire

WARREN, Ohio (AP)—Firemen could see two children trapped inside a burning pony barn in rural Kinsman but were unable to reach them because of the intense heat.

Raymond Ragan, 6, and Constance Thorp, 7, both died Tuesday in the barn behind the home of Mr. and Mrs. Martin Ragan on Ohio 87. Their son and the neighbor girl, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Thorp, were playing in the second floor of the hay-filled barn.

Kinsman volunteer firemen said the children apparently were playing with matches.

Ohio Labor Joins Dems In Campaign

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The Ohio AFL-CIO is cooperating with the Democratic National Committee in an effort to get "friends of labor" elected to Congress last November re-elected in 1966.

"This is not a deal to get them to represent the labor point of view," said state Sen. Frank W. King of Toledo, Ohio AFL-CIO president.

"What we are trying to do is to help these new congressmen do the best job they can, to learn how to make contacts, and to broaden their base. We are doing this because we know if they do a good job, the people will re-elect them."

King said Tuesday night that he and Walter Davis, six-state director of the labor organization's Committee on Political Education (COPE), and a representative of the Democratic National Committee will kick the program off in Ohio Friday night.

He said they will meet with first-term Rep. John J. Gilligan of Cincinnati, one of four Democrats who ousted Ohio Republicans last year.

King said further meetings—with the other new Democratic congressmen, Rodney M. Love of Dayton, Congressman-at-large Robert E. Sweeney of Bay Village, and Walter H. Moeller of Lancaster.

Living Costs Are Steady

WASHINGTON (AP)—Living costs held steady in February, the first time in six months there has not been an increase, the Labor Department reported today. Mantine some 13 million factory workers took home record high pay checks.

Higher prices for women's clothing, poultry, potatoes and consumer services were balanced off by decreases in prices for automobiles, gasoline, telephone service and eggs, leaving the consumer price index at 108.9.

The index, based on 1957-59 prices, showed it cost $10.89 in February to buy typical items worth $10 in the base period.

Lewis Center Denies It Needs Space

CLEVELAND (AP)—Sources at Lewis Research Center deny that the center is hurting for space, as implied in a congressional report critical of the lack of a master plan at Lewis.

The report issued Tuesday by the House Committee on Science and Astronautics says Lewis "is overcrowded with buildings and people, virtually hemmed in laterally, with no plan in existence to expand upward — the only direction left."

Actually, there are about 100 acres available for expansion at the center, which is adjacent to Cleveland Hopkins International Airport. In addition, a spokesman said, there are 6,000 acres at the Plum Brook facility near Sandusky, 50 miles west of the main research center.

Walter T. Olson, assistant director for public affairs at Lewis, said rapid changes in basic research make it possible for the center to follow a master plan. The congressional report said Lewis was one of two National Aeronautics and Space Administration facilities which avoid master plans "with disdain."

Olson said Lewis Center has general plans for land use, but "our difficulty is planning the exact buildings or equipment for research. You couldn't have foreseen what we're doing here now a few years ago."

Lewis is spread over 350 acres, with most of the buildings clustered near the former site of the National Air Races, just west of the airport.

New Lake County Welfare Chief Named

PAINESVILLE, Ohio (AP)—Lake County commissioners have named Robert L. Moon, former Mentor city manager, acting director of the Lake County Welfare Department to replace George V. Carlson, who was fired Monday.

Carlson is fighting his ouster, which was ordered because he refused to give up a 13-year-old boy who had been assigned to his home by court order. Carlson contends his firing was politically motivated.

Secret Ferry Service Helps Cubans To Flee

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Cuban exiles have established a secret ferry service to lift fellow refugees off Fidel Castro's island. Eighty-five Cubans who escaped their homeland aboard two boats provided by the Anti-Communist Armed and Civilian Forces (FAYCA) checked in at the Cuban Refugee Center Monday.

Gervasio Rivero, coordinator of FAYCA, said, "We have made many trips to Cuba and returned with refugees."

Bullets Trip Hawks Again In NBA Play

BALTIMORE (AP) — Kevin Loughery hardly deserves to be called the unsung hero of the Baltimore Bullets. Not any more.

The 6-foot-3 playmaker has been a take-charge guy in the National Basketball Association playoffs, capping his surge with 31 points and six assists Tuesday night as the Bullets whipped the St. Louis Hawks 109-103 and advanced to the Western Division finals.

Baltimore polished off St. Louis 3-1 in the best-of-5 series, after finishing eight games behind the Hawks in regular season play.

The Philadelphia 76ers have a chance to accomplish the same feat in the Eastern Division semifinals. Philadelphia finished third, eight games behind Cincinnati, but the 76ers take a 2-1 series edge into tonight's fourth game in Philadelphia.

Loughery, in his first full season as a starter, was the fifth high scorer on the Bullets with 1,024 points and he was chosen the unsung hero in a ballot conducted near the end of the season.

In the playoffs, he leads the Bullets with 16 assists and his 87 points in four games is only one less than club leader Don Ohl.

Loughery, who equaled his NBA one-game high, said, "I was really up for this game. . . . sky high I was yelling at my wife all day."

The Bullets open their best-of-7 series in Los Angeles against the Western Division champion Lakers Saturday night.

Kansas High Schooler Sets Mile Run Mark

WICHITA, Kan. (AP) — A tremendous burst of speed in the last 440 yards carried Jim Ryun of Wichita East to a national high school record-shattering 4:04.4 mile run Tuesday night in an outdoor invitational track meet.

He unleashed a 56-second final quarter mile to eclipse the previous mark of 4:06.0 set last season by Gerry Lindgren of Spokane, Wash.

The 66-year-old Dressen, who has been hospitalized with a heart attack since March 8, was reported in "good shape" and "right on schedule" on his way to recovery.

Spiezio of Cards Earns Title of Yankee-Killer

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Ed Spiezio, one of the few St. Louis Cardinals who didn't torment the New York Yankees last October, is an accredited Yankee killer today.

Spiezio, who got into 12 games last season as a Cardinal first-year player and sat out the World Series triumph over New York, beat the Yankees 4-3 with a ninth-inning triple Tuesday in the clubs' first spring meeting, Johnny Keane, who quit as

O'Toole Set To Pitch in Red Opener

TAMPA, Fla. (AP) — Jimmy O'Toole figures he's all set to pitch the opening game for the Cincinnati Reds a week from Monday.

The sturdy lefthander went eight innings Tuesday, scattering four hits as he led the Reds to a 7-3 exhibition baseball victory over Minnesota. The only run the Twins scored against him was unearned.

"I'm ready for the opener," he said afterwards. "All I need now is the official okay from the skipper."

The skipper, Manager Dick Sisler, refused to get pinned down on opening day assignments, but conceded that, "as of now, Jimmy is my No. 1 candidate."

While O'Toole turned back the Twins, the Reds kept hitting away at the pitches of Camilo Pascual and Billy Pleis. Frank Robinson drove in two runs with a first-inning homer and later sacrificed in another run. Gordy Coleman also homered for the Reds, in the sixth. The Reds out-hit the Twins, 10-7.

Tommy Harper and Pete Rose gave the Reds an additional tally in the third, making it 3-0 as they worked a double steal with Rose scoring.

In the eighth, the Reds scored twice on three hits, one of them a double by Tommy Helms.

After the game the Reds management announced the club had trimmed its roster to 30 by sending four players to the minors — pitchers Dan Neville and Larry Dovel, outfielder Mel Queen and infielder Tim Harkness.

The Reds take on the Philadelphia Phils today.

Tribe Buys Hurler from Yankee Staff

TUCSON, Ariz. (AP) — "You never have enough pitching."

That was the philosophy on which Gabe Paul says he bought Stan Williams from the New York Yankees.

Purchase of Williams Tuesday for an estimated $25,000 gives the Cleveland Indians 12 "established" pitchers—five of them in the bullpen. Other relief pitchers in the crew with Williams are Gary Bell, Don McMahon, Ted Abernathy and Bud Daley.

Paul, Indians general manager, denied the purchase of Williams means that one of the others may be leaving.

"I made the deal for only one reason," he said. "Williams has a good arm. If we're lucky with him we'll hit the jackpot."

Daley was hit hard by the Chicago Cubs in Tuesday's 12-9 exhibition loss, giving up six runs and five hits in the one inning he worked.

Ralph Terry, who became the first major league hurler to work nine innings last Thursday, started but was removed after four innings. Manager Birdie Tebbetts said Terry was removed according to plan, not because he was tagged for four runs and six hits.

Birdie was not discouraged by Daley's performance either.

The Indians came up with 14 hits off three Chicago pitchers, Dick Howser and Max Alvis each hitting a triple and two singles. Joe Azcue had a pair of triples.

The Cubs' 17-hit attack was paced by homers by Billy Williams and Ernie Banks.

The Indians have an open date today.

Albie Pearson leads the Los Angeles Angels in games played. The little outfielder has been in 565 for the expansionist team.

Cards Given Nod To Keep NL Pennant

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The National League Green Book, guide to the senior circuit's 10 teams, boasts on its cover that just three clubs have managed to repeat as pennant winners in the last 20 years. Let that be a warning to the world champion St. Louis Cardinals.

The Cards, who emerged from baseball's tightest pennant race ever with their first flag in 18 years last season, must rate as favorites for 1965, but five other clubs shape up as strong threats.

Philadelphia, Cincinnati and San Francisco, who, along with St. Louis, all had a shot at the pennant going into the final frantic weekend of play last year, figure to stay near the top this season. Los Angeles, with baseball's strongest pitching staff, and Milwaukee, with considerable power, also rate consideration.

Only Chicago, Pittsburgh, New York and Houston seem out of the pre-season pennant picture.

The Cards, Phillies and Reds all were active on the winter trade market.

St. Louis moved to bolster its pitching staff, picking up Tracy Stallard, a 10-game winner with the Mets last year and Bob Purkey, who won 11 for the Reds. Utility man Tito Francona, acquired from Cleveland, strengthens the bench.

Philadelphia, which missed by a whisker after leading all season long, swapped pitcher Dennis Bennett to Boston for slugger Dick Stuart, whose hitting they could have used down the stretch last year.

The Phillies also picked up Los Angeles Angel problem child Bo Belinsky and veteran pitcher Ray Herbert from the Chicago White Sox. Manager Gene Mauch needs a tightened defense, especially at third base where Rookie of the Year Richie Allen led the league in errors.

Cincinnati grabbed pitcher Roger Craig and outfielder Charlie James in the swap with St. Louis for Purkey.

San Francisco has Willie Mays, Orlando Cepeda and Juan Marichal and any club with that kind of talent should be in the race all the way.

The Giants, under new Manager Herman Franks, need comebacks from shortstop Jose Pagan and outfielder Willie McCovey as well as bullpen help.

Milwaukee has a strong young pitching staff, the best catcher in the league in Joe Torre and one of the last year's stop rookies in Rico Carty, whose .330 average was second best in the league.

Los Angeles, with Sandy Koufax seemingly recovered from last year's arm trouble, has the top pitching in the league with Don Drysdale, an 18-game winner, and left-hander Claude Osteen, who won 15 for Washington last year.

Manager Walt Alston needs some hitting though.

Former major league outfielder Danny Litwhiler coaches the Michigan State baseball team.

Torres Takes Pastrano's Crown, While Griffith Keeps His Title

NEW YORK (AP) — Boxing's comeback boom found a new and exciting tiger today in Jose Torres, the piston puncher who hammered his way to the light-heavyweight championship — and threw down the gauntlet to Cassius Clay.

"I want Muhammad Ali," the 28-year-old Puerto Rico-born New Yorker blurted after he had given the master boxer, Willie Pastrano, an unmerciful beating and had been named winner by a technical knockout in the ninth round.

Pastrano lost his 175-pound title while sitting — bloody and battered — on his stool between the ninth and 10th rounds, a decision of mercy by referee Johnny LoBianco.

The champion's handlers let out a loud and bitter protest but Pastrano said huskily in his dressing room: "It was a just decision. I took a terrible beating. I may never fight again."

The abrupt and controversial ending climaxed an unprecedented title doubleheader at Madison Square Garden that earlier saw Emile Griffith successfully defend his welterweight crown with a unanimous 15-round decision over the rugged but outclassed Jose Stabile.

A crowd of 18,112 paid $239,556 for the twin bill of fare — a record gate for the musty midtown arena — and signaled a continuing boom for the sport that once was believed on its death bed.

Most of the cheers were for Torres, a superbly built, olive-skinned athlete of 28 who had banged around the middleweight and light-heavy ranks for a half-dozen years without a chance, and who was a 6-5 underdog against Pastrano.

Using a peek-a-boo fighting style and lashing out with a left that was like an adder's strike — and almost as deadly — he gave the classy Miami Beach fighter an awesome beating.

In the fourth and fifth rounds he brought blood with savage bolts to the head, and in the sixth he unleashed a left that sent his glove crashing into Pastrano's ribs.

Never before in 13½ years of fighting had any man knocked Pastrano to his knees.

A look of agonizing pain, and surprise, came to the champion's face as he slumped to his knees and sagged into the middle strand of the ropes. The New York Athletic Commission doctor, Dr. Harry Kleiman, rushed into the ring and looked anxiously at the fallen boxer.

Pastrano rose shakily at the count of nine and hung on. He lasted the rest of the sixth round, then three more before he wobbled to his corner at the end of the ninth.

Referee LoBianco gave the champion one look and then waved that the fight was over.

Pastrano's manager, Angelo Dundee, and trainer, Lou Gross, objected strongly.

"The referee didn't even wait for the doctor to come to the ring," Dundee said. "He had no right to stop the fight."

They found no support from their fighter, Pastrano, who, almost an hour later, spoke softly through his battered features:

"It was a just decision. I just didn't have it. I fought a terrible fight and I took a real beating."

Asked if he wanted another shot at Torres, Pastrano blanched and said:

"Any man who takes a licking like I got should think twice before getting back in the ring. I may never fight again."

The referee said he made the decision on his own after Dr. Kleiman had instructed him to be careful that Pastrano didn't take too much additional punishment.

"Pastrano had nothing left, I had to stop it," the referee said.

Dr. Kleiman said the referee was justified. "I was just entering the ring," he said. "I may have stopped it myself — but the referee has full control."

The victory was the 35th for Torres, son of a trucker. The former Puerto Rican has lost only one bout, a knockout at the hands of Florentino Fernandez in 1963, and he has tied one.

It was the 13th loss for Pastrano, who has won 63 and drawn eight in a career started when he was 15 years old. He is now 29.

Torres had predicted he would win by a knockout between the seventh and 10th rounds. "He was good, but I am great," he told a press conference afterwards.

Griffith, making his 11th appearance in a title fight, overcame some early lethargy for his unquestioned victory over Stable, a 25-year-old New Yorker who was born in Cuba.

The champion seemed to come alive in the 10th and he won every round thereafter with a sharp, devastating attack. But he never could put Stable, who never has been knocked out, on the floor.

"He was tough but I'm inclined to be lazy," Griffith said.

O'Toole Set To Pitch in Red Opener

TAMPA, Fla. (AP) — Jimmy O'Toole figures he's all set to pitch the opening game for the Cincinnati Reds a week from Monday.

The sturdy lefthander went eight innings Tuesday, scattering four hits as he led the Reds to a 7-3 exhibition baseball victory over Minnesota. The only run the Twins scored against him was unearned.

"I'm ready for the opener," he said afterwards. "All I need now is the official okay from the skipper."

The skipper, Manager Dick Sisler, refused to get pinned down on opening day assignments, but conceded that, "as of now, Jimmy is my No. 1 candidate."

While O'Toole turned back the Twins, the Reds kept hitting away at the pitches of Camilo Pascual and Billy Pleis. Frank Robinson drove in two runs with a first-inning homer and later sacrificed in another run. Gordy Coleman also homered for the Reds, in the sixth. The Reds out-hit the Twins, 10-7.

Tommy Harper and Pete Rose gave the Reds an additional tally in the third, making it 3-0 as they worked a double steal with Rose scoring.

In the eighth, the Reds scored twice on three hits, one of them a double by Tommy Helms.

After the game the Reds management announced the club had trimmed its roster to 30 by sending four players to the minors — pitchers Dan Neville and Larry Dovel, outfielder Mel Queen and infielder Tim Harkness.

The Reds take on the Philadelphia Phils today.

Kansas High Schooler Sets Mile Run Mark

WICHITA, Kan. (AP) — A tremendous burst of speed in the last 440 yards carried Jim Ryun of Wichita East to a national high school record-shattering 4:04.4 mile run Tuesday night in an outdoor invitational track meet.

He unleashed a 56-second final quarter mile to eclipse the previous mark of 4:06.0 set last season by Gerry Lindgren of Spokane, Wash.

Dressen Is Reported In 'Good Shape' Now

SANTA MONICA, Calif. (AP) — Charley Dressen, manager of the Detroit Tigers, will be released from a hospital Thursday, a spokesman said Tuesday night.

The 66-year-old Dressen, who has been hospitalized with a heart attack since March 8, was reported in "good shape" and "right on schedule" on his way to recovery.

Tribe Buys Hurler from Yankee Staff

TUCSON, Ariz. (AP) — "You never have enough pitching."

That was the philosophy on which Gabe Paul says he bought Stan Williams from the New York Yankees.

Purchase of Williams Tuesday for an estimated $25,000 gives the Cleveland Indians 12 "established" pitchers—five of them in the bullpen. Other relief pitchers in the crew with Williams are Gary Bell, Don McMahon, Ted Abernathy and Bud Daley.

Paul, Indians general manager, denied the purchase of Williams means that one of the others may be leaving.

"I made the deal for only one reason," he said. "Williams has a good arm. If we're lucky with him we'll hit the jackpot."

Daley was hit hard by the Chicago Cubs in Tuesday's 12-9 exhibition loss, giving up six runs and five hits in the one inning he worked.

Ralph Terry, who became the first major league hurler to work nine innings last Thursday, started but was removed after four innings. Manager Birdie Tebbetts said Terry was removed according to plan, not because he was tagged for four runs and six hits.

Birdie was not discouraged by Daley's performance either.

The Indians came up with 14 hits off three Chicago pitchers, Dick Howser and Max Alvis each hitting a triple and two singles. Joe Azcue had a pair of triples.

The Cubs' 17-hit attack was paced by homers by Billy Williams and Ernie Banks.

The Indians have an open date today.

Albie Pearson leads the Los Angeles Angels in games played. The little outfielder has been in 565 for the expansionist team.

Torres Takes Pastrano's Crown, While Griffith Keeps His Title

NEW YORK (AP) — Boxing's comeback boom found a new and exciting tiger today in Jose Torres, the piston puncher who hammered his way to the light-heavyweight championship — and threw down the gauntlet to Cassius Clay.

"I want Muhammad Ali," the 28-year-old Puerto Rico-born New Yorker blurted after he had given the master boxer, Willie Pastrano, an unmerciful beating and had been named winner by a technical knockout in the ninth round.

Pastrano lost his 175-pound title while sitting — bloody and battered — on his stool between the ninth and 10th rounds, a decision of mercy by referee Johnny LoBianco.

The champion's handlers let out a loud and bitter protest but Pastrano said huskily in his dressing room: "It was a just decision. I took a terrible beating. I may never fight again."

The abrupt and controversial ending climaxed an unprecedented title doubleheader at Madison Square Garden that earlier saw Emile Griffith successfully defend his welterweight crown with a unanimous 15-round decision over the rugged but outclassed Jose Stabile.

A crowd of 18,112 paid $239,556 for the twin bill of fare — a record gate for the musty midtown arena — and signaled a continuing boom for the sport that once was believed on its death bed.

Most of the cheers were for Torres, a superbly built, olive-skinned athlete of 28 who had banged around the middleweight and light-heavy ranks for a half-dozen years without a chance, and who was a 6-5 underdog against Pastrano.

Using a peek-a-boo fighting style and lashing out with a left that was like an adder's strike — and almost as deadly — he gave the classy Miami Beach fighter an awesome beating.

In the fourth and fifth rounds he brought blood with savage bolts to the head, and in the sixth he unleashed a left that sent his glove crashing into Pastrano's ribs.

Never before in 13½ years of fighting had any man knocked Pastrano to his knees.

A look of agonizing pain, and surprise, came to the champion's face as he slumped to his knees and sagged into the middle strand of the ropes. The New York Athletic Commission doctor, Dr. Harry Kleiman, rushed into the ring and looked anxiously at the fallen boxer.

Pastrano rose shakily at the count of nine and hung on. He lasted the rest of the sixth round, then three more before he wobbled to his corner at the end of the ninth.

Referee LoBianco gave the champion one look and then waved that the fight was over.

Pastrano's manager, Angelo Dundee, and trainer, Lou Gross, objected strongly.

"The referee didn't even wait for the doctor to come to the ring," Dundee said. "He had no right to stop the fight."

They found no support from their fighter, Pastrano, who, almost an hour later, spoke softly through his battered features:

"It was a just decision. I just didn't have it. I fought a terrible fight and I took a real beating."

Asked if he wanted another shot at Torres, Pastrano blanched and said:

"Any man who takes a licking like I got should think twice before getting back in the ring. I may never fight again."

The referee said he made the decision on his own after Dr. Kleiman had instructed him to be careful that Pastrano didn't take too much additional punishment.

"Pastrano had nothing left, I had to stop it," the referee said.

Dr. Kleiman said the referee was justified. "I was just entering the ring," he said. "I may have stopped it myself — but the referee has full control."

The victory was the 35th for Torres, son of a trucker. The former Puerto Rican has lost only one bout, a knockout at the hands of Florentino Fernandez in 1963, and he has tied one.

It was the 13th loss for Pastrano, who has won 63 and drawn eight in a career started when he was 15 years old. He is now 29.

Torres had predicted he would win by a knockout between the seventh and 10th rounds. "He was good, but I am great," he told a press conference afterwards.

Griffith, making his 11th appearance in a title fight, overcame some early lethargy for his unquestioned victory over Stable, a 25-year-old New Yorker who was born in Cuba.

The champion seemed to come alive in the 10th and he won every round thereafter with a sharp, devastating attack. But he never could put Stable, who never has been knocked out, on the floor.

"He was tough but I'm inclined to be lazy," Griffith said.

Spiezio of Cards Earns Title of Yankee-Killer

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The National League Green Book, guide to the senior circuit's 10 teams, boasts on its cover that just three clubs have managed to repeat as pennant winners in the last 20 years. Let that be a warning to the world champion St. Louis Cardinals.

The Cards, who emerged from baseball's tightest pennant race ever with their first flag in 18 years last season, must rate as favorites for 1965, but five other clubs shape up as strong threats.

Philadelphia, Cincinnati and San Francisco, who, along with St. Louis, all had a shot at the pennant going into the final frantic weekend of play last year, figure to stay near the top this season. Los Angeles, with baseball's strongest pitching staff, and Milwaukee, with considerable power, also rate consideration.

Only Chicago, Pittsburgh, New York and Houston seem out of the pre-season pennant picture.

The Cards, Phillies and Reds all were active on the winter trade market.

St. Louis moved to bolster its pitching staff, picking up Tracy Stallard, a 10-game winner with the Mets last year and Bob Purkey, who won 11 for the Reds. Utility man Tito Francona, acquired from Cleveland, strengthens the bench.

BLITZ BROTHERS

Clemente Seen Key to Pirates

FORT MYERS, Fla. (AP) — Roberto Clemente's malaria has been a stiff blow to Harry (The Hat) Walker in his first spring training camp as a big league manager.

Pittsburgh finished in a sixth-place tie with Los Angeles last year with a healthy Clemente winning the batting championship. Until his status is clear, it is difficult to assess the Pirates' chances this year.

Views on TV-Radio

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Television-Radio Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — There are now 14 daytime game shows on the three major television networks occupying a total of seven hours.

Games and panel show fans can settle down at 10 a.m. and, with a half-hour break for a late lunch, see nothing else until 4 p.m.

There also are 13 soap operas filling six of the daytime hours, thus guaranteeing the true devotee of tragedy and suffering plenty of brood about from noon to four.

With a lavish feast served up daily for game lovers, it is hard to understand the necessity of adding two new ones to the schedule, as did NBC Tuesday.

First there was "Call My Bluff." In this one, two rival teams of three, including the usual celebrities, try to persuade their opponents to believe a fake definition of a rare word or, in the alternative, to doubt the real definition.

The second show, "I'll Bet," has two teams of celebrities, each accompanied by his or her spouse. The game is betting on husband's or wife's ability to answer simple questions.

The game itself, in spite of sliding panels and flashing lights, isn't much.

It is quite easy to get confused in the maze of daytime television. So many of the soap operas have meaningless and sound-alike titles.

In much the same way, so many of the game shows have a look-alike quality about them.

The jolly masters of ceremonies not only sound alike, but they look alike, too — except Hugh Downs, of course, who looks like a congressman.

Recommended tonight: "The Dick Van Dyke Show," CBS, 9:30 EST — consistently one of the best comedy series on the schedules.

Commissioner Docket Heavy

Grange Opposed to Liquor At Fairgrounds Buildings

A protest against the presence of liquor at various times at the County Fairgrounds was one of several items on a packed agenda handled this week by the Board of County Commissioners.

The liquor complaint was lodged by the Scioto Grange. The organization submitted a letter to the solons requesting the practice be prohibited.

Based on a resolution adopted by the Grange, the letter made specific reference to the presence of liquor on various occasions at the Fairgrounds 4-H and Grange Building.

According to the Commission's interpretation, the objection centers on parties and dances held at the Fairgrounds by groups and organizations that rent the 4-H and Grange Building and the Coliseum for this purpose.

THE LAWMAKERS indicated the Scioto Grange protest will be referred to the Pickaway County Agricultural Society for study and subsequent recommendation.

In other business, the solons moved to forward a letter to Prosecutor Robert H. Huffer seeking advice on action the county should take on a flood problem that exists at the J.

Arthur Sark farm in Walnut Twp.

The lawmakers are attempting to determine if the county has a moral obligation to help pay for a levee that was built at the Sark property. According to figures made available to the Commission, the construction cost was $1,200, with $1,010 of this amount paid by the Flood Control Board that falls under the Agricultural Stabilization Conservation Service.

A suit, filed in court here about four years ago by Sark for alleged crop damages, is still pending. The petition contends a bridge erection-road improvement project in the vicinity of the Sark property created a flooding problem.

Attorneys Emmett Crist and Lemuel Weldon, representing Sark, reviewed the alleged crop damage allegation again this week with the Commission. The solons' move to seek an opinion from Prosecutor Huffer followed.

According to information available, the levee has generally corrected the flooding situation. However, the settlement for crop damages allegedly inflicted prior to construction remains to be determined.

ACCORDING to a report from the county engineer, a switch of stop signs at three intersections in Washington and Walnut Townships has been completed.

The traffic sign change was authorized by the Commission on Mar. 8 following a review conducted in conjunction with trustees from the two townships. Intersections involved are at the Circleville - Winchester and Bell Station-Fairfield Roads. Circleville - Winchester and Red Bridge - East Ringgold Roads and Bell Station-Fairfield and East Ringgold Southern Roads.

In other action, the county fathers authorized the Commission clerk to submit a request for money to the Pickaway County Budget Commission. The funds, approximately $9,000, will come from the veterans housing fund, the title of which was abolished by the solons last month.

The request calls for money from the new defunct fund to be placed in the county general fund's unanticipated emergencies account, apparently for building purposes.

A motion to hire Clarence Wardell of Circleville to repair the flagpole in front of the Courthouse was approved. This action rescinded a motion passed last week to employ a Columbus firm to do the job at a cost of $60.

The Wardell firm submitted an offer to complete the repairs at a cost of $100. It was indicated the new motion was approved in an effort to keep business expenditures on a local level, despite the difference in cost.

THE THREE commissioners have indicated additional study will be devoted to a request by the County Trustees and Clerks Assn. for township road construction and improvement assistance.

Solons Charles Morris Jr. offered a motion Monday calling for the county to make $40,000 available to several townships on the basis of needs. Commissioner Wayne Hines proposed the various trustee bodies appear before the Board to explain their needs. Both motions failed due to lack of seconds.

Hines said the immediate appropriation of money might mean roadway services that could be provided the townships by the county engineer will be decreased. He said several trustees have indicated they may be more in favor of receiving service rather than outright financial assistance.

Morris contends several townships are in need of help now in order to get their roads in decent shape once and for all. He termed the method of partial repair that is now in effect as a waste of money.
